• How City Sees Amalgamation

It's Good for All

By IAN MYRETT
Last of a series

Key to the amalgamation puzzle for Victoria lies in more orderly development of the community as a whole.

Beyond that, according to the consensus at city hall,

Disease Menace To Sect

HOPE (CP) — A medical health officer warned Wednesday that frozen water and sewer pipes would force Sons of Freedom Doukhobors out of their camp and added that there is danger of disease and fire.

Dr. A. S. Arniel said the camp opened to the sect by the Seventh Day Adventists was "never intended for winter accommodation."

NOON FREEZE

He said water pipes will soon freeze and septic tanks and sewage disposal equipment already is inadequate for the 1,000 or so occupants.

He had informed fire officials about the hazard at the camp where buildings and tents are heated by wood stoves.

WOMAN TO HOSPITAL

Dr. Arniel, director of the upper Fraser Valley health unit, also received authority to order hospital treatment for 72-year-old Mrs. Tina Rezanoff, a Freedomite who had gone without food for 16 days.

The woman was removed by ambulance from a motel close to the Freedomite encampment near this Fraser Valley community 100 miles east of Vancouver.

VOWED TO FAST

Dr. Arniel first visited the woman in the morning and later returned with another doctor. The justice of the peace also visited the woman before he granted the application.

Dr. Arniel said in an interview Mrs. Rezanoff's condition was deteriorating rapidly. Earlier she vowed to fast to the death. She had been without food for 16 days and without water for three days.

John D Set To See Mac

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Macmillan will meet in the Bahamas Dec. 21 for a far-ranging discussion of world affairs. It was announced Wednesday.

Thief Risks Paralysis

Stolen Car Lethal

VANCOUVER (CP) — A cat thief has exposed himself to the danger of paralysis because the car he chose belongs to a university student who conducted experiments with a fly, an egg and a rat.

The car was stolen Sunday while its owner, agriculture student Mark Fung Ping Chuen, was working at his part-time job as an orderly at Mount St. Joseph's Hospital here.

TESTS IN CAR

Inside the car is the laboratory coat Mr. Fung was wearing when he worked with a germ culture that made a rat become paralyzed and die.

The experiment was conducted in the car.

Police started a widespread search for the car Wednesday after Mr. Fung, on the advice of his professor, told police about the experiment.

DON'T TOUCH

Police warned anyone seeing the car, a 1959 red sedan, not to touch it but to call police immediately.

Mr. Fung said the culture

there appears to be little of lasting value to be gained by joining Saanich or the rest of Greater Victoria.

Main Reason

The main reason for taking this view: Victoria, despite attacks of "outside" critics, is in excellent financial shape.

City representatives point with pride to the fact that Victoria's credit rating with financial houses is in the top three among major Canadian cities.

Debt Reduced

The city's debt has been reduced by 35 per cent since 1950 and is continuing to decline at a rate of about $700,000 a year while Saanich debt is growing.

All city services are virtually complete and in good shape. A revolving fund has been set up and is in full operation to cover replacement costs of equipment, sewers, water mains and streets.

Next year, when the new provincial government system of municipal grants is introduced, Victoria will come out better than any other municipality in the province.

For Community

Why, then, should city council favor a new study on amalgamation?

Can the city indeed afford to amalgamate with any or all of the surrounding municipalities?

"We can if we think, as city council has done, in terms of the good of the community as a whole," says Ald. Arthur Dowell, chairman of finance.

Ottawa Delegation

'Nights in Pigalle Daytime in Sleep'

MONTREAL (CP) — La Presse said Tuesday "certain" members of the Canadian parliamentary delegation to the recent North Atlantic Treaty Organization conference in Paris "spent their nights in Pigalle and slept by day."

Pigalle is the centre of Paris' night-time entertainment area. The newspaper, in an Ottawa report by Jean Charpentier, said Canadian parliamentary delegations to international conferences are "always ill-prepared, often disinterested and sometimes without talent." Correspondent Charpentier accompanied the Canadian delegation to the NATO meeting.

OTHER VETERANS

Delegates from other countries mostly were taking part in the conference for the seventh or eighth straight year, the report said.

Mayor R. B. Wilson would like to see from the outset amalgamation of all four local municipalities.

Many of the benefits, however, would accrue from taking of what the mayor termed "the logical first step" toward this eventual goal by uniting Victoria and Saanich.

These would include considerable economies in administration.

If Profits Rise That's Paradise

GLAMGOW (AP) — Field Marshal Vincent Montgomery spoke up loudly Tuesday in favor of rewriting some hymns.

Speaking at the opening of a hymnal printing plant, Montgomery said:

"We always sing, 'O paradise, O paradise, how I long for thee.'"

"But we don't really long for that. We long to stay as here a bit longer. I'm sure you will all agree with that."

Then he added:

"I would like to see some author who might write—'O paradise, O paradise, I have a little shop, and just as long as profits last, here I mean to stop.'"

Crossing Near Elk Lake

ROAD MISHAP KILLS WOMAN

By BOB PETHICK

An elderly woman was killed instantly when struck by a car while attempting to cross the Patricia Bay Highway near Elk Lake about 5:03 p.m. yesterday.

Dead is Mrs. Daisy Hargreaves, 81, Aberdeen Hotel, who was hurled 57 feet by the crash.

She was wearing dark clothing and was crossing the highway near Piedmont.

TOLL NOW 22

Her death brings the year's fast-rising fatal traffic toll south of the Malahat to 22. It was the third fatal accident in Saanich in 1962.

Mrs. Hargreaves had been visiting a friend, Mrs. Muriel Spurgeon, 6074 Patricia Bay Highway, and was believed to have been on her way to call on Mrs. Edith Rowbottom, 5068 Patricia Bay Highway, when the accident occurred.

'DIDN'T HAVE CHANCE'

"The driver of the car didn't have a chance," eyewitness Charles Lake, 1920 Jeffrey, told the Colonist.

Mr. Lake was driving behind the car that hit Mrs. Hargreaves.

BARELY SAW HER

"I just barely saw her silhouetted against the headlights of an oncoming car. The driver told me she didn't see the pedestrian until she was just in front of the car," he said.

Police said the car was driven by Mrs. Marjorie Sam of Mount Newton Cross Road. She told police she had been travelling between 40 and 45 miles an hour.

Police had their hands full keeping heavy rush-hour traffic moving on the Patricia Bay Highway.

A doctor, who arrived on the scene before police, pronounced her dead.

Hunters Die In Trailer

SUNDRE, Alta. (CP) — Three hunters were found dead in a truck-mounted trailer near here Wednesday afternoon, apparently asphyxiated by a heater in the plywood cabin.

Police identified the men as 41-year-old Frank Anderson of Rockyford, Alta., Edward Schafer, 29, of Allingham, Alta., and Bruce S. Permann, 30, of Drumheller, Alta.

The trio were believed to be hunting moose.

Crack Indian Units Quit Pakistan Border

WASHINGTON (AP) — High Indian authorities said Wednesday there has been a withdrawal of substantial Indian army forces from the Pakistan border to meet the Chinese Communist threat on the Himalayan frontier.

The diplomatic sources estimated about half of the 60,000 to 75,000 crack Indian troops which have been concentrated along the borders of West and East Pakistan have been pulled out of their positions to bolster India's defence lines on the northeast and northwest fronts in the undeclared war with the Chinese Communists.

India's Ambassador B. K. Nehru told a press conference the conflict with China "means that India cannot assume any longer that it will have a friendly neighbor on its northern boundary."

Blast Bulges Desert

Three seconds after detonation of an experimental blast underground in Nevada desert, round 300 feet high and 600 feet across rises from desert floor. U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, releasing picture, says round collapsed into hole 1,300 feet in diameter—big enough to swallow four Queen Elizabeths. Black dots to right of round are 10-foot buildings. Blast, equal to 100,000 tons of TNT, was first in series to test atomic power's use as earth-mover for canals, harbors, dams.—(AP Photos.)

Surgery?

Reports persisted in Vatican City yesterday, despite informal denials, that Pope Pius may undergo surgery soon. Officials said at first his cold had developed into mild influenza, then refused to specify nature of 81-year-old pontiff's illness.

Strachan Names Labor 'Agitators'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Opposition leader Robert Strachan said Wednesday he blames union officials Orville Braaten and Jerry LeBourdais for fanning labor unrest in British Columbia.

Braaten is business agent of the Vancouver Converters' Local 433 of the Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers. LeBourdais is president of Local 16-001 of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers.

SHARP BLAME

Mr. Strachan, leader of the provincial New Democratic Party, also said one management official and three politicians were equally responsible. (See Page 8)

He said also inflammatory statements made by some labor leaders could harm the cause of the labor movement.

Referring in a Wednesday interview to LeBourdais and Braaten, he said: "They were the ones I was talking about mainly."

"If I'm going to name them, I'm also going to name Howard Mitchell (president of Mitchell Press Limited) and Liberal leader Ray Perrault, Premier Bennett and Attorney-General Bennett."

TELL COURTS

Braaten was quoted as a Vancouver Labor Council meeting as saying:

"We should tell the courts we will shut the city down. We'll show them we are the lawmakers and they will interpret the law the way we want them to."

LeBourdais was quoted as saying the labor movement would run right over anyone who got in its way.

Pennies from Scholars Boost 500 Fund

Pennies from scholars make 500 Fund dollars.

Never widely known at any time as possessing the most solvent of financial status, the scholars of Victoria University have nevertheless backed the annual Christmas fund drive.

All week long, they've been twisting arms on campus in a "battle of the sexes" to see which could come up with the larger collection of pennies.

Two large multi-gallon glass jars have been slowly filling, inch by inch.

End of the male vs female contest is this afternoon. The pennies will be counted and, tomorrow, the winning sex receives its reward.

"It's going to be a day like

Donations to the 500 fund may be brought or mailed to The Daily Colonist, 2601 Douglas or left at Annandale of Victoria, 708 Yates, during business hours. Income tax receipts will be issued on request, and donors may specify if they wish to receive anonymous.

fresh week," social convener Cathy Hatch says.

"Winners have the power to ask anything—within reason—of the losing sex."

It looked, late yesterday, as if the male students would have that privilege. Their jar was several inches fuller. But the situation could change.

The effort is just another of the many ways Victorians get together to aid the 500 Christmas Fund.

End result of the student "fun and games" is a measure of happiness for 500 households at Christmas time.

All funds, no matter how collected, go into the overall fund. Then with the Daily Colonist absorbing all administrative costs, the total receipts are split into 500 equal cheques just before Christmas.

Each of 500 Victoria households that needs help the most receives a Christmas cheque.

This gift may be spent in any fashion.

It just says "Merry Christmas — we haven't forgotten you, now that things are difficult. May they become better soon."

Thant Wins Red Backing

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Soviet Union was reported Wednesday to have agreed to go ahead with election of U Thant, United Nations acting secretary-general, to a full five-year term. Thant was chosen Nov. 2, 1961, to serve out the remainder of the late Dag Hammarskjöld's term, which ends next April 16.

Make Nazi Victim Saint, Say Dutch

VATICAN CITY—A Dutch priest killed in Dachau prison camp may become the first martyr of Nazism to achieve Catholic sainthood.

The Carmelites, the order to which Father Brandama belonged, have asked the bishops of the ecumenical council to request the necessary sacred congregational rites.

Father Brandama, put to death with an injection of carbolic acid July 26, 1942, fought the Nazi attempt to turn Holland's Catholic press into a propaganda machine.

AMERSHAM, England (UPI)—Thirty policemen arrived two hours late for a dinner at a hotel and explained they lost their way. "Why on earth didn't you ask a policeman?" asked hotel owner Bertie Tooth.

"They're never around when you want one," said one of the 30.

SANTA MONICA—Patricia Lawford, sister of President Kennedy, admitted driving without a valid licence and was ordered to visit injured children in a hospital and survey wrecked cars. Judge was Blair Gibbons, who rose to national prominence with unusual traffic sentences. Normal California fine for her offence is $2.

LONDON—Barbara Fell, 44, acting controller of the overseas section of Britain's information office, was said in court to have loaned official government documents to a Yugoslav embassy official with whom she was having an affair. ### Laos Groups To Form Single Army

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Laos' three-party government announced agreement Tuesday night on a plan to unite its rightist, pro-Communist and neutralist armed forces into a single national army.

A similar agreement on creation of a police force also was announced. The task of actually carrying out the two mergers was given to government commissions composed of members of the three factions.

U.S. Insistence on Freedom 'Getting Through' to Russia

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. determination to defend its vital interests against Communist encroachment anywhere may finally be getting through to Moscow due to the Cuban crisis, Secretary of State Rusk said yesterday.

Rusk said U.S. handling of the Cuban situation has "caused an element of caution" in Moscow and alerted the world to the fact nuclear war is a real danger.

"It is very important (the Russians) understand that when we (in the free world) talk about these great issues of war and peace . . . this is serious talk," Rusk said.

"The one thing the outsiders must understand is that, on the great underlying issues of war and peace, we are united and firm and determined, and this is the signal we must get across. I think there is a good prospect that after this Cuban affair . . . these signals can go across."

FAR-REACHING

Rusk said current differences between Moscow and Peking are "very serious and very far-reaching." The confusion they have created in Communist parties "has been helpful."

But he cautioned the arguments are essentially over revolutionary techniques and offer no room for relaxation of free world effort.

Own Party Rebuffs Adenauer

RHINEBECK, N.Y.—The car of Wallace Briggs, 22, crashed through a fence and hit the house of Russell Applegate, his insurance agent.

QUEBEC CITY—D. W. Ambrose, of Toronto, president of Abitibi Power and Paper, was elected President of the Canadian Heart Foundation, succeeding Louis St. Laurent.

LONDON—Canadian publisher Roy Thomson said he soon will announce ownership of his 100th newspaper.

The U.S. has told its friends not to draw too many conclusions from the Cuban experience, Rusk said.

"Russia remains a great power," he warned. "There were special circumstances in Cuba which are not necessarily present in other parts of the world. It would be wrong to say that because this situation in Cuba came out the way it did a lot of other questions

De Gaulle Spares Terrorists

PARIS (UPI)—President de Gaulle yesterday spared the lives of two leaders of the terrorist secret army which had sought to assassinate him, commuting the death sentences against ex-Gen. Edmond Jouhaud, 57, and Andre Canal.

Meanwhile, a French minister said President de Gaulle had told the cabinet he does not plan to ask for re-election when his term ends Dec. 31, 1965.

Reason to Falter

THE SERIES of byelection setbacks the British Conservative Party has suffered this year provide ample reason for the Macmillan government to falter in its headlong pursuit of policies obviously not to the liking of the British voter.

Easy as it was for the party to explain away its defeats in early spring as nothing more than a passing phase of unpopularity—a sort of twist-election hazard traditionally faced by any government—its recent showing at the polls in five byelections cannot be so conveniently shrugged off.

Already the effects of Mr. Macmillan's magic spell which was cast so effectively over the Llandudno national rally this summer to effect the closing of Tory ranks show alarming signs of wearing thin. Once again the anti-Common market faction of the Conservative Party made up of some 40 to 50 sitting members of Parliament is preparing to rebel against the prime minister's leadership because of his determination to take Britain into Europe.

The results of the recent byelections in which the government lost two seats and had its overall vote reduced by nearly 46,000 have only strengthened the rebels in their belief that Mr. Macmillan will lead the Conservative Party to defeat if he persists in his present policy toward pushing Britain into the European union.

Unless Mr. Macmillan changes his views regarding Britain's entry he will shortly find himself facing formidable opposition both within and without his own party.

Among those already lined up to oppose his desire to link Britain economically and politically with Europe are the majority of leaders of Commonwealth governments, the British Labor Party, and a strong group of Conservative and Labor peers who may be able to muster enough strength in the House of Lords to hold back legislation which would take Britain into the ECM during the present Parliament.

To this force, of course, must be added the dissident anti-Market Conservative back-benchers and the voting public itself.

Mr. Macmillan's position has been further weakened by the delay of Britain's proposed entry into the ECM by one year. Originally it had been supposed by the government that the United Kingdom could commence its union with Europe some time in early 1963, thus avoiding any possibility of the move becoming an election issue.

With the date of Britain's probable entry now being set back until 1964 coupled with the threat that the House of Lords may cause delays even beyond that point, the question could well become the major issue in the next general election, with the Labor Party and the rebel Tories on one side and the Macmillan government and the Liberals on the other.

She Reigned Well

CANADA has special links with the Netherlands, for the Canadian Corps liberated Holland and this country gave refuge to Princess Juliana and her children when the Low Countries were overrun by the Nazi forces. There will be sympathetic interest therefore in the passing at the age of 82 of Queen Mother Wilhelmina.

Queen Wilhelmina relinquished the throne in favor of her daughter after the war but only on the completion of 50 years reign, the longest of the House of Orange and one that left her enduring mark upon her subjects.

She will be remembered beyond the confines of her own country for the quiet courage with which she faced the disaster which overtook her people during five oppressive years of Nazi occupation, and her efforts in forced London exile in sustaining the spirits of the Netherlands awaiting the day of liberation.

Within her own country her long reign was distinguished by the absence of pomp and the democratic example she set to the royal house while maintaining the dignity of her regal state. In her hands the House of Orange was a reflection of the subjects among whom she travelled easily and from whom she drew willing respect and affection.

She was a queen who served her country well and who graced the blood royal of which she was a fine example.

On the Alert

THE TRANSIT systems in Victoria and Vancouver which were losing money as individual operations of the B.C. Electric Company before expropriation are losing still more now, according to Reeve George Murdoch of Oak Bay who says that his information is that this year the Greater Victoria loss will be more than $700,000. In the last year of private ownership it was around $500,000.

The deficit on the bus systems nevertheless remains one that the government can afford without being regarded as unduly generous, for the people of Victoria and Vancouver still subsidize the transit operations through their power rates, as they did when the B.C. Electric was running the services.

But by now, however, had the company not been expropriated, it undoubtedly would have sought an increase in fares or electricity rates or both. And it is hardly to be expected that the government will look with complacency at a deficit that continues to increase.

Precisely what Premier Bennett has in mind for the transit systems in the future is at the moment anyone's guess. But he has made abundantly clear in the past that he would prefer them to be a municipal responsibility in the two metropolitan areas, and no longer a part of B.C. Hydro operations. The questions are when, and under what terms?

There appears to be little reason for doubt that sooner or later the municipalities are going to have to face this problem, or that the greater the deficit the more cause the premier will have to want to be rid of the buses.

Thus it behooves the local councils to remain alert to all the possibilities, and the Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee has done well in calling for reactivation of the sub-committee that dropped this study of this subject when Mr. Bennett earlier this year withdrew his unenthusiastically received offer to sell the systems to the municipalities for a nominal sum.

"... of these, and these, and nothing was"

By TOM TAYLOR

A NOTE in the Colonist the other day on the past that invites you to take off by air, sea or land and see the wonders of the world, said that England was uncovering her past.

The archaeologists are at work. They always are even if we hear of them only when some spectacular find is recorded. They are crisscrossing burrows, digging down to expose the evidence of earlier societies.

Civilizations rise, have their brief day, decline and fall, as ours of today will in its course. Whether its successors will build on top of it, physically, unfortunately I shall never know.

And that will be a pity, for the excavations of archaeologists sometimes puzzle me.

I don't always comprehend how it happens that buildings can vanish underground. In areas now desert, in places long uninhabited and left to the winds and growths of nature—yes. One can appreciate that the shifting debris of centuries might cover them up.

But in cities, say London and Rome for example—where occupation has been continuous for a thousand years and more, how does it come about that by digging one discovers buildings, homes, streets of previous eras, all on lower levels.

Some years ago archaeological research beneath the Vatican revealed tombs and other chambers on descending layers, some of which were presumed once open to the Roman street. Which means that one generation or another deliberately built their thoroughfares and structures on top of others.

As though, for instance, Douglas Street 500 or 1,000 years hence might be 30 feet higher than it is now and the approaches to it correspondingly elevated to that archaic logic of the future would discover, if they had a mind to probe our peculiarities, some of the stores we enter every day.

And yet I could visit the city of my nativity and find that the pavement levels were the same as when my youthful steps ran over them. The city hasn't risen or been buried one fraction of an inch in 50 years. There are Victorians extant who could say the same of Victoria.

But to get back to England's past. A Saxon coffin has been unearthed below the grounds of Winchester Cathedral, which allegedly held the body of that beau ideal of English monarchs, King Alfred. The ruins of the first Cistercian monastery in England, founded in 1128—but not buried—are to be preserved. Similarly the most pristine Roman gateway, in Colchester, will be rescued from neglect—if the town council can find the money.

And finally, several hundred skeletons of Roman Britain have been found in Yorkshire. They value the continuity of their history, do the modern-day Britons, and to some purpose.

These skeletons remain, for instance, suggest that people in Roman Britain had healthier teeth than people today, in spite of the persuasions of television. But they had rheumatism, which isn't surprising, and of course they didn't live long. Forty years was a good lifetime, so you see that "good old days" are not always so good.

It is interesting to learn, also, that they were shorter of stature than we are, although this does not come as news. If you match yourself against a medieval suit of armor you soon find that the heroic giants of ancient battle were anything but giants physically.

Set them alongside our basketball players and they would appear as pygmies. Still and all they did things, and as the poet says there is off good gear contained in small bulk.

Rear-Admiral Richard Byrd made aviation history as the first man to fly over the South Pole 33 years ago today—in 1929. Three years earlier the United States navy officer was acclaimed for the first flight over the North Pole.

Admiral Byrd, foremost among the world's air explorers, was instrumental in charting some 2,000,000 square miles of earth's surface previously unseen by man. At the age of 41 his commissioning as rear-admiral made him the youngest of that rank in the U.S. Navy. He died in March, 1957.

Rumors Fly Thick and Fast

By ARTHUR BLAKELY

THEY'RE playing musical chairs again on Parliament Hill. Speculation is rife as speculation must be when there's a lot of it. And rumors are flying thick and fast.

Conservative backbenchers have been preoccupied for some days with reports that Prime Minister Diefenbaker's search for a strong Quebec lieutenant has, at long last, been crowned by success.

The situation is complicated by the fact that the reports are rarely in agreement as to the identity of the contest winner. Jean-Jacques Bertrand (UN—Mississauga), a former National Union cabinet minister who seems, at times, to be disenchanted with his party, is the favored figure at the moment.

For some curious reason, Mr. Bertrand's description of the reports as "unfounded" appears to have increased the speculation that there may be something to it.

The Conservative Party isn't the only one studying reports that it may be strengthened by a new arrival from Quebec. Quebec Liberals are booming Premier Jean Lesage as the next national leader of the Liberal Party. This isn't, however, represented as a short-term proposition.

The Lesage-for-leader movement, by no means new, began to crop up again only after the recent Quebec election. Its supporters concede that Mr. Lesage, having won another term for his provincial government, would be in honor-bound to serve for an indefinite period before turning his attention once again to federal politics.

This movement last achieved prominence after the last provincial election when Mr. Lesage led the Quebec Liberals to a victory which few had anticipated over the National Union, in 1960.

At that time, the federal Liberals didn't seem to be going anywhere in a hurry. The leadership of the Hon. Lester Pearson was being criticized as too mild, moderate.

The Packback

Hateful Vacuum

By GREGORY CLARK

THE safety councils of the world, the governments, the highways departments, the police, generally warn us by radio, TV, newspapers and pamphlets that the correct distance at which to drive in traffic is one car length in rear of the car ahead for every ten miles of speed.

In other words, at 20 miles per hour, you should be two car lengths behind the one ahead; at thirty, three; forty, four; and so on. When you reach the almost universal highway speed of 60 miles per hour, six car lengths should separate all the vehicles in motion.

I wonder if any safety expert ever tried to keep six car lengths behind the car ahead? If he leaves so much as two, on the average highway, the indignant motorist behind him will immediately move to fill up the hateful vacuum. He will move up, into that empty two-car space, even though there is a solid head to tail line up ahead as far as the eye can see.

In cities, of course, it's ridiculous to attempt to keep even one car length behind. If you do, an irate traffic officer will signal you, full arm, to close up.

Moment Of Flux

By MARQUE CHILDS

IN the aftermath of the lurid light cast by the Cuban crisis, when the naked threat of nuclear incineration was so clear, all things wear a changed shape. It is as though the principal nations of the earth stood on a kind of plateau of indecision looking for an alternative to the desperate expedient of threat and counter-threat.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk conveyed this moment of pause before the Foreign Policy Association in New York last week. He said that "we are on the front edge of significant and perhaps unpredictable events, a period in which some of the customary patterns of thought will have to be reviewed and perhaps revised, a process that will affect governments in all parts of the world."

The test will not be long in coming. Ambassador Arthur Dean is in Geneva heading the American delegation to the 18-nation disarmament conference. He has taken with him some new proposals that owe something to the Cuban crisis. These proposals are concerned with trying to establish safeguards against surprise attack and to open up swifter and more immediate channels of communication in the event of emergency.

But as so often in the past, the primary goal is a nuclear test ban agreement and the primary obstacle is the Soviet refusal to consider on-site inspection to verify whether a recorded disturbance in the earth came from a nuclear explosion or an earthquake. On this issue, the disarmament conference broke off on September 8 and referred its deliberations to the United Nations, which sponsors the conference.

Hints have come out of Moscow that the two sides are separated by only minor differences and that, therefore, an agreement to end testing—both the Soviets and the United States having concluded their latest series—is close. These hints from considerably below the level of Premier Nikita Khrushchev himself, relate in part to mechanical means for identifying tests which would do away with inspectors on the ground. On this, Rusk said:

"If the other side has instruments which can do this job through instrumentation, we would press them to come forward with them. We cannot say with complete assurance that no such instruments exist. But we don't have them. If the other side does, we would like to see them. We have urged them at least 20 times to come forward with a demonstration of the capacity to detect nuclear testing, because this is a question of fact, not necessarily of policy..."

The conviction here at the top level of government that the major decisions must be taken by Moscow if we are to see what Rusk called "the resolution of peace." On-site inspection—a few, as Rusk put it—would be the first such decision. But others of even greater moment must follow.

The point heavily underscored in that a beginning must be made on something specific. The hope is that the grandiose designs for complete and total disarmament can be put aside in favor of tangible progress that could lead, slowly and painfully, to further steps.

The really momentous decision for the Soviet Union is on the new military budget and whether to try to catch up with America's counter-force nuclear capacity. This is a two-strike strategy, the first aimed in retaliation at Soviet military targets, the second aimed at Soviet cities if Soviet missiles should first hit cities. With 800 Minute Man missiles in hardened sites and with 656 missiles on 49 Polaris submarines, this country has such an invulnerable deterrent projected and rapidly coming into being.

Khrushchev, in his speech to the Central Committee, gave no real indication whether the decision would be to put badly needed resources in agriculture and consumer goods or whether to turn the armament effort up another notch. This last would be a painful effort.

How the cold war would be affected by Soviet determination to match America's counter-force strategy is being intensely debated in the inner councils of the administration. At the highest level in the Pentagon, the belief is strong that if the Soviet Union could in three or four years build its own invulnerable striking force, the world would be more secure.

On the other side, the argument is that the strain involved in shifting more and more resources from butter into guns would in itself jeopardize the peace. There is no present intention here to scale back America's projected program. In the present moment of flux, a new and searching look is fixed on every aspect of the cold war.

Independence Could Bring Bloodbath to Kenya

By RUTHVEN R. LIBBY
From Nairobi, Kenya

Malcolm MacDonald, newly appointed governor of Kenya, faces one of the stiffest assignments ever handed a British diplomat or administrator. It will be his job to guide Kenya through a period of interim self-government to eventual independence. His task may be impossible in this land of the Mau Mau.

Two salient features of African politics are perhaps more pronounced in Kenya than anywhere else on the continent.

Here politics are 90 per cent emotion and 10 per cent intimidation. (When an African politician tells his opponent he will cut his heart out, he is not speaking figuratively.)

And here money, which talks in politics everywhere, literally shrieks its off.

The low degree of political sophistication among the masses, the fierce tribal loyalties and the jealousies among the 44 tribes of Kenya, and the personal intra-party differences of political leaders combine to make the writing of a national constitution almost impossible.

The constitution is supposed to be prepared for the interim nine-month period of self-government that is to precede outright independence.

It is not made easier by the fact that Africans are clamoring to get it written by noon yesterday.

The stronger of the two main African parties here is the Kenya African National Union (KANU), whose titular head is Jomo Kenyatta, 72, a planner, director, instigator and leader of the 1952 Mau Mau rebellion.

His party draws its strength from the large Kikuyu, Luo and Mamba tribes. The first named comprises the smartest, hardest-working, most capable and generally the nastiest Africans in the country.

The smaller tribes, banded together in the Kenya African Democratic Union (KADU), fear that KANU will dominate the country. Their leader, Ronald Ngala, is insisting that sufficient guarantees of minority rights be written into the new constitution to make outright takeover by KANU difficult, if not impossible.

The fears of the smaller tribes are pretty well founded. Unquestionably, KANU could dominate the country if its top men could get together. At present they resemble a sackful of tomatoes.

Kenyatta is little more than a symbol of the African nationalist movement and the mouthpiece for KANU. He won't read anything anymore; likes to operate off the cuff; feels that he knows all the answers; but if he makes a speech not written for him it is likely to be gibberish. Nevertheless, he can still sway the multitudes.

One top candidate for the real leadership of KANU is Tom Mboya, 32, leader of the "young moderates." He is a brilliant, shrewd, unscrupulous, but capable man, and is respected by white colonial officials as a formidable adversary.

On leave from his job as head of the Kenya Federation of Labor, Mboya is the party secretary, holds the ministry of labor in the present coalition government and reportedly is heavily financed by the AFL-CIO in the United States.

His arch-rival for succession to the KANU throne is the party vice-president, Oginga Odinga. This man, a real rabble rouser, personally has received more than $300,000 from Russia and Communist China. He does not put these funds into the party kitty, but uses them to build support for himself first, and the party second.

Oginga Odinga fondly believes that he gets this money with no strings attached. Occasionally he will mouth some of the Communist cant, but reportedly he does not understand it and hence doesn't really mean it.

All the same, he is recognized by whites and by Ngala as the Communist "foot-in-the-door."

More Powerful, Ominous Than Ever

Peking Collapse Wishful Thinking

By EDWARD NEILAN
From Hong Kong

Red China's military thrusts into India have punctured the illusion that the Peking dragon is about to roll over and expire.

Predictions of an imminent economic collapse and an internal upheaval on the China mainland appear to have been wishful thinking.

Communist China looms as powerful and ominous as ever in the Asia context, perhaps more powerful than many observers believed.

There is no discounting the problems which beset the mainland regime. But the feeling is mounting here that these problems have been given interpretations by many Westerners that are merely hopeful to the Free World.

In the years to come, with its vast armies and the largest population in the world, Communist China will continue to threaten the Asian area from the Ural to the Pacific.

Peking's eventual possession of nuclear weapons will add to the ominous situation.

Militarily, the Communist Chinese have shown that land armies can still be effective. The Himalayan border war was fought little differently than skirmishes there 100 years ago.

Peking apparently has no qualms about losing people to accomplish its gains. This has been demonstrated in India where at least several hundred Chinese soldiers have been sacrificed for goals that are still known to only a few in Peking.

This is the regime that once boasted it could survive a nuclear war with losses of millions to its population of over 600,000,000.

Despite its backwardness, its problems and its isolation from the rest of the world, Communist China is able to exert profound effect on the smaller nations along its borders by rattling sabers.

In the eyes of Asians, China hasn't lost a war since the Reds came to power in 1949.

The three great powers of Asia today are China, Japan and India. China is not ready to take on Japan just yet. It has taken on India and apparently aims at making India compatible, subservient or hostile. In any of the three situations, China believes she will emerge as the leader of Asia.

The same pressures, most observers feel, are eventually in store for Japan. Trade has been opened and enlarged between the two and China is expected to try to pry Japan loose from the West.

Peking's methods are lumbering, often obtuse and unsophisticated by Western standards.

But as the Korean War served notice once before, the Sino-Indian War serves it again that the nature of the Communist Chinese threat should not be ignored. Most important, it should not be belittled.

What Did Kennedy Mean?

Climactic Period In World Affairs

By R. T. RICHARDSON
From Washington

What did President Kennedy mean when he told his news conference that this was a climactic period, or turning point, in world affairs?

The old pros of the Washington press corps were unable to draw him out, but there is no doubt that the Kennedy administration believes vast shifts and realignments in the world power balance are now in motion.

It's a new balance of world power which Mr. Kennedy surveys and prepares to influence. It's a new world outlook for a nation such as Canada, full of dark foreboding and full of bright prospects.

These are the main assumptions, leading to conclusions that no one yet dares to accept: Kennedy's power play in confronting Communist military penetration of Cuba with a fight-or-get-out attitude has won a spectacular victory.

Khrushchev has been forced into a 5,000-mile withdrawal of Russian military power, and he may be in serious trouble with some of his advisers. Perhaps it would be correct to say that some of his advisers are in serious trouble.

One result is the likely postponement or virtual elimination for the time being of the Berlin crisis.

Nor does Washington take the view that the Chinese Communist invasion of India is over, with Peking's present cease-fire. It has swung India right into the Western camp, and has forced neutralist countries in Asia and Africa to revise their policies.

The frontier invasion, if one judges the American consensus correctly, is only the prelude to a long, bitter war which cannot be halted by any outsider. It can however be influenced by outside intervention.

This is the policy to which the United States, and obviously Canada and Britain as well, have quickly committed themselves.

The attack on India is seen as Khrushchev's greatest crisis. Red China has taken the initiative in directing Communist military power, and Russia cannot stand aside. Having lost a showdown with Kennedy, will Khrushchev face a showdown with Mao?

KENNEDY

Perhaps, but in any event Red China has seized the leadership of Asia by a calculated power play of which the end cannot be foreseen.

"I think," said President Kennedy, "this is a very climactic period."

Pakistan Sees Red

By PETER WORTHINGTON
From New Delhi

India's efforts to solve her Chinese puzzle are giving Pakistan ulcers.

As the immediate danger of war with China recedes, India's crisis with Pakistan seems to be increasing.

There's growing uneasiness in New Delhi as Pakistan politicians and press pour abuse on America and Britain for giving India arms.

In the national assembly parliamentarians demanded that Pakistan withdraw from SEATO and CENTO, that Foreign Minister Mohammed Ali be fired because he's too pro-West and that a non-aggression pact with China already opened by the Reds be negotiated.

Demonstrations have been reported against the United States; Prime Minister Nehru and President Kennedy have been hanged in effigy in Karachi.

Pakistan's fear that arms supplied to India will wind up facing the Pakistan frontier and not the Chinese.

It's difficult to sympathize with Pakistan at this moment in history.

For years it's been getting Western military aid to protect it from Chinese muscle flexing. Most of this, Indians claim, faces east, not north. Certainly one Pakistani armored division equipped by America is on the Kashmir frontier.

Passes 650 Mark

NEW YORK (AP)—The story of Wednesday's stock market was more of the same: Higher prices amid heavy trading. It was the fifth gain in seven sessions and carried the Dow Jones Industrial average past the 650 mark for the first time since mid-May.

Steel issues, depressed for months, retained their place as market leaders. Also in demand were electronics, rubbers, drugs and mail order-retail stocks.

Volume totalled 5,800,000 shares. It was the fifth consecutive day with volume above 5,000,000, something else that hasn't happened since before the May market plunge.

Spery Rand was the most active stock, rising 1/4 at 14 1/2. General Dynamics, the leader in the previous two sessions, was runner-up, falling 1/4 at 32 on 60,000 shares.

U.S. Steel was fifth most active and up 1/4.

Some rubber companies raised prices on synthetic rubber products. Goodrich was up 1/4 and U.S. Rubber 1/4.

Mail order and retail stock issues responded to predictions a record Christmas trade. Sears Roebuck was up 1/4, worth 1 1/4 and Montgomery Ward 1/4.

Western Oils Climb

TORONTO (CP)—After a sluggish opening Wednesday, the stock market perked up near mid-day and closed near its high point.

Industrial gains were from two points on index, while western oils, with a gradual, steady climb, finished ahead 1 1/2 points.

Key industrial gainers included Aluminum, B.A. Oil, Canada Cement, Power Corporation and Moore Corporation, all ahead in a 1/4 to 1/2 range.

Shell of Canada gained 1/4 to 13 1/2, after earlier touching a 1962 peak of 13 1/2. The stock traded more than 50,000 shares.

Banks weakened, led by Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, down 1/4.

In base metals, Gunter Minside to post a 25-cent gain at $8.75. International Nickel and Hudson Bay Mining both declined 1/4.

Western oils saw some climb. Home A. & Great Plains Development, B. & Hudson's Bay, B. Bailey Selburn A dipped five cents to $9.50.

Wall Street Shakes Away the Blues

NEW YORK (AP)—They're wearing smiles on Wall Street these days instead of worried frowns.

A sharp change of sentiment has occurred during the last month in the financial centre of the United States.

The stock market has rocketed ahead, people again are actively buying and selling stocks and brokers are making money.

No one is willing to bet this will be a long continuing situation, pointing out that all three conditions now prevalent in Wall Street can disappear suddenly as they did in the big spring and summer slump.

But some brokers say the public has returned to the market in force after being scared into a prolonged stay on the sidelines by the crash of May 28 and the subsequent price slide. In addition, there has been increased activity by institutions (mutual funds, pensioners, etc.) and professional traders.

This seemed to be borne out by high volume on rising prices as the market, measured by the popular averages, made since Oct. 29—the fastest and steepest rise in history.

In that period there were eight sessions in which more than 5,000,000 shares changed hands. On seven of those days the market advanced.

Brokers' board rooms are jammed with people, intently watching the ticker tape's jerky march across the translucent screens.

"Last September you could shoot a shotgun in here and wouldn't hit anyone," remarked Eldon A. Grimm, a partner in the brokerage firm Walston & Co., as he surveyed the scene in his company's board room at 74 Wall Street.

"Now they're in here, and not just to get out of the cold." Why the sudden turnaround in sentiment? Grimm offers this answer:

"The Cuban crisis. Suddenly we made a stand at the brink of war and the Communists pulled in their oars a bit. And in the last few weeks the idea has taken hold that we don't have to worry about a recession.

"Another thing that's helped considerably is the flood of increased dividend rates and extra dividends. It's a happy factor that's restored interest."

Ferry Income to Cut Fares

Profits Not for B.C.

By HARRY YOUNG Colonist Business Editor

B.C. taxpayers who are looking for profits from the B.C. ferry fleet to help them out with their financial problems had better take another look—so long as Premier Bennett holds the rank of Admiral of the Fleet.

At the launching of the Queen of Saanich yesterday at the VMD shipyard, the premier scotched any idea that the government's ferry service was to be run to make a profit for taxpayers.

He promised not one penny of ferry money would be used as general revenue of the province, nor would it be used to subsidize or otherwise help the activities of the Toll Bridges and Highways Authority.

Asked for an elaboration following the launching ceremony, Mr. Bennett told me that, once the capital costs and depreciation had been met, any surplus revenue made by the ferries would eventually go toward the reduction of fares on all the services.

NOT FOR SALE—BUT
Three separate bids have been made for control of Growers Wine this year, and E. C. Warner, vice-president and managing director, says they have been turned down.

He did so, because "I feel a special responsibility to this province, particularly to the fruit growers in the Okanagan and Saanich Peninsula."

ALMOST ALL
"They have not only gone out and sold our product but practically all of them are shareholders too."

But even loyalty apparently has its price, for Mr. Warner goes on to say:

"If I received an offer I considered too good to turn down, and if it was fair and just to small and large shareholders alike, I am sure your directors would immediately submit it to you."

PAY OUT AT LAST
Kelvinator of Canada Ltd., which has not paid a dividend since June, 1957, is to pay its shareholders 25 cents a share in December.

The first payment in five years has been made possible by better sales and profits

Premier on Cheerful Job

So who wouldn't smile? British Columbia's Premier W. A. C. Bennett is seen here taking delivery in New York of $25,000,000 worth of cheques representing a B.C. Toll Authority 20-year loan. It was raised by a group of companies headed by the First Boston Corporation whose president, George D. Woods, sits at right. Mr. Woods is scheduled to become president of the World Bank. First Boston Corporation also heads special U.S. syndicate which will raise long-term financing for the $880,000,000 Peace River power project.

Tory's Kin Fired For NDP Role

WINNIPEG, Man. (UPI) — The nephew of a former premier of Manitoba and leader of the federal Progressive Conservative Party has been fired from his job for representing the New Democratic Party in the Dec. 14 provincial election. John Bracken, 46, a nephew of former Conservative Opposition leader John Bracken, was fired from his job on the operating staff of a power plant after he was nominated by the New Democrats to contest the riding of Lac Du Bonnet, a seat now held by the Conservatives.

'Village Idiot' View

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP) — Dr. John Warwick Montgomery has termed "unscholarly drivel" a University of B.C. professor's view that the Jesus of the Christian Gospel never existed.

To argue that the Jesus of the New Testament is a figure wrapped in myth is as ridiculous as saying Julius Caesar never existed," said Mr. Montgomery, chairman of the history department at Waterloo Lutheran University.

He refuted a claim made Monday by philosophy Prof. Ayrum Stroll, who said at a meeting of UBC students so many legends have grown about Jesus it is impossible for scholars to find out anything about the real man.

Dr. Montgomery said the evidence for the Biblical Jesus is based on documents every competent historian knows were written while people were still alive who knew Jesus.

"For example, St. Paul, writing to Corinth no later than AD 56, stated flatly over 500 people witnessed Jesus' resurrection, and most of them were still alive.

"It's too bad a university such as UBC... encourages the kind of unscholarly drivel presented by Prof. Stroll.

"This village-idiot approach to Christianity harks back to 18th century rationalism."

Meanwhile, UBC Student Philosophy Association president Gordon Briggs said the group was offering food for thought and not trying to tread on toes when it is sponsored the talk.

Students on campus are open to all sorts of ideas and we want to provide them with them," he said, "that's why we schedule lectures of a provocative nature — not sensational, but provocative.

"More important and of more concern to society are the topics we're going to get to next term." — abortion, space, travel, etc.

IWA Chief Agrees To Meet Premier

IWA regional council president Jack Moore will accept Premier Bennett's invitation to meet him in the premier's office to discuss B.C. labor-management strife.

"It is my intention to meet with Premier Bennett in an effort to see if there is any ground to solve labor-management unrest presently in existence in the province," Mr. Moore told The Daily Colonist last night.

AFTER CHRISTMAS

He said if it is agreeable with Premier Bennett he would like the meeting immediately after Dec. 25.

He said he would try to get the premier to understand the problem "as we see it, rather than go with proposals."

"You can never be too hopeful in a situation that has gotten as bad as this, but I do hope some good will come out of the meeting and that after the meeting we will be fully aware of all sides," he said.

IMPARTIAL INQUIRY

The invitation to the IWA chief was extended in response to a long letter from Mr. Moore asking the premier for an "impartial investigation" by the government to bring labor and management closer together.

Premier Bennett said in his letter to Mr. Moore "I am always open to help in any way possible to establish better relations."

MEET IN OFFICE

"As a preliminary move, I would be pleased to invite you, as the head of the largest union in British Columbia, to meet with me in my office," Mr. Bennett's letter said.

The premier's letter also followed a plea from Opposition Leader Robert Stanbury on Tuesday for a cease-fire on the labor front and some government leadership.

In Vancouver Paddy Neale, secretary of the Vancouver Labor Council and treasurer of the provincial NDP, warned that violence during strikes would remain as long as the Social Credit government maintained its present restrictive labor legislation.

Port agent Rod Heinekey of the Seamen's International Union said "I don't often agree with Stanbury, but in this case I do."

He charged the violence had been provoked by people with a political axe to grind and added: "A list of their names looks like a who's who of the Communist Party."

'Duty to Order Trial' Ostler Tells Mountie

Magistrate William Ostler said yesterday he felt it was his duty to commit RCMP Marine Const. Malcolm La Freniere for trial on a charge of dangerous driving.

"I do not think it is a strong case by any means, but I feel it is my duty to commit for trial," he said. The case was adjourned to Dec. 3 without La Freniere being formally committed for trial.

La Freniere was charged following the death of Mrs. Doris Bendall, 512 Fraser, in a traffic accident on Esquimalt Road Sept. 15.

Magistrate Ostler made his comment at the conclusion of the preliminary hearing in Esquimalt police court.

Two survivors of the accident—Elizabeth Harrison, 448 Admirals Road, and Kenneth Bendall, 512 Fraser, husband of the dead woman—gave evidence yesterday.

But neither of them gave evidence of the moments leading up to the two-car collision which occurred about 9 p.m.

Miss Harrison, who was driving the car in which Mr.

and Mrs. Bendall were passengers, told the court she remembered leaving the Bendall house but had no further recollection until she regained consciousness in hospital.

Mr. Bendall also said he remembered nothing after leaving home until he woke up in hospital.

At the conclusion of prosecution evidence, Brian Roberts, representing La Freniere, argued that there had been no evidence of dangerous driving.

John McIlreath, prosecuting, contended that "I think we can take it for granted that if there is a collision, your honor, we take it that there had to be some driving involved."

He said two witnesses—Cete Kuor, 708 Suffolk, and Esquimalt police Sgt. James Owens—had said La Freniere's car was across the double line on Esquimalt Road.

Magistrate Ostler said he felt the value of Miss Kuor's evidence was subject to debate. "Since this is a case of a preliminary hearing, the question of reasonable doubt does not arise," he said. "Were I trying the matter it might be different."

At a morning sitting of Esquimalt police court, Donald Barrington, Work Point Barracks, appeared to change his plea on a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Barrington pleaded guilty to four charges when he appeared Tuesday—taking a car without the owner's consent, careless driving, no driver's licence and minor without insurance—but denied the fifth charge.

Yesterday he pleaded guilty to failing to remain and the case was remanded to Monday to allow preparation of a probation report.

Magistrate Ostler was told Barrington took a car from Work Point Barracks Sunday, was involved in an accident on Lamson Street and continued to Lamson and Devonshire, where he was involved in a second accident.

In city police court, Kenneth M. Bosence, 2415 Browning, was fined $20 for being a minor in possession of alcohol.

Go out on a limb, serve Seagram's Gin

That's the spirit! While most folks deck the halls with colourless gins, you serve up Seagram's Gin with its hint of amber colour. The difference, of course, is dryness. By ageing Seagram's Gin longer we remove unwanted sweetness and perfumery. As the gin becomes crisply dry. Nature supplies that amber tint. So remember, 'tis the season to serve Seagram's. Because it's extra dry.

Herring Fishermen Ending Long Strike

VANCOUVER (CP)—More than 600 herring fishermen, on strike since Oct. 16, have agreed to return to work Saturday.

The United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (U.F.A.W.) Wednesday agreed to accept prices offered by the Fisheries Association of B.C., representing the employers.

The association agreed to continue paying $16 for herring used for eating and $11.40 a ton for herring used for fertilizer.

Bigger Military Contribution

Help from Europe Asked

PARIS (UPI)—The United States and American sources said today that the United States will renew pressure on its European allies next month to increase their military contribution to the Atlantic alliance.

Washington may even ask for more than the present unfilled minimum of 30 divisions demanded by U.S. air force Gen. Lauris Norstad, the allied supreme commander in Europe.

CRITICALLY SHORT

Present allied ground strength in Europe is about 25 divisions, a force which Norstad says is "critically short" in a number of ways.

Europe's contribution to allied forces is likely to be a major subject confronting the Atlantic Pact Council when it meets here Dec. 13 to 15.

INCREASE MORE URGENT

American sources said the United States considers an increase in military manpower more urgent than the creation of the nuclear striking force America has offered its European allies.

MIGHT SELL MISSILES

American sources said the U.S. might sell its Atlas Polaris missiles to be mounted on American-manufactured and owned nuclear submarines in European waters and also might train Europeans to operate these weapons.

The sources said it is unlikely that Washington would give or sell medium-range nuclear missiles to European countries to be mounted on the continent of Europe. It certainly would not give nuclear warheads to the Europeans, they said.

AIR TERMINAL BUILDING

Don't Call 'Em Airports

OTTAWA (UPI)—They great glass palaces with don't call 'em airports any golden doorknobs.

In Dublin on Sept. 11, Dr. H. J. Gorecki of Montreal, financial director of the International Air Transport Association, told IATA's 18th annual general meeting too many of the world's airports were "necessary," Laing said. He added that passengers don't live in them—they pass through them "as fast as they can."

He specifically questioned why marble was used in construction of the Vancouver International Airport when "we have excellent wood in British Columbia."

Here is an artist's sketch of what the new air terminal under construction at Patricia Bay Airport will look like when it is completed. Target date for completion of the $631,300 project is the fall of 1963.

New Razor Blades Super When You Can Find Them

By JUDITH HERR

These days, whenever you ask in drugstores for that extra special super razor blade, you may be asking for a close shave but chances are you won't get it, if you happen to belong to that Wilkinson Sword fan club.

That old Sheffield, England, sword and sabre firm puts out a double-edged razor blade made of stainless steel that gives this reporter eight shaves (and more) to a blade, but the only trouble is, those blades are in shortest supply in Canada, from east to west.

It's like wartime—you demurely approach your friendly neighborhood drugstore and ask him whether a new shipment of blades has come in.

Speed Needed To Obtain U.K. Product

and whether you, lucky dog, could perhaps have one five-blade package.

No soap, sorry—no blade. So you go to a department store.

"We had two dozen day before yesterday but they were gone in an hour," said an Eaton's spokesman.

"Tell you what we'll do. We'll have a one-hour sale on for these blades next Thursday. You come then, and you'll get one—not more—one package."

When this reporter arrived at the sale, he was already too late.

"They're all gone—sorry," the salesgirl said.

"But I asked a salesgirl to put away two packages."

"We have instructed the girls not to do this any more," a store official said.

Wherever and whenever you ask for those blades in any drugstore in town, you get a shrug, a knowing smile or a "sorry."

Rarely, you hit the jackpot.

According to the Eaton's spokesman, Wilkinson Sword is building a new factory and until it's up, these blades will be scarce in Victoria.

What makes these blades so hot?

"They don't seem to get dull, and they give an incredibly close shave."

After much begging a drugstore agreed to put away two packages from the next shipment.

"I really shouldn't do it," he said. "His name is being withheld for good reasons." "It's against my principles, but for a good customer..."

This slightly shady deal seems to work—in theory.

The blades haven't arrived yet, and it's been three weeks.

So what about growing a beard?

Staple Fine Proves Offensive

ANOUX PALIA, S.D. (AP)

—LARRY WITTECK found out Tuesday he could pay his parking ticket and still be in trouble.

He used 87 staples to attach the ticket to a dollar, the amount of the fine, then mailed it to the clerk's office.

Called into court, Witteck pleaded guilty to a charge of conducting himself in an offensive manner. He was fined $15.

Canada High On Aid Roll

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—

Canada was among the highest contributors Tuesday when 27 countries pledged a total of $2,072,588 for the 1963 program of the United Nations high commissioner for refugees.

Canada's contribution of $280,000 compared with $300,000 by West Germany, which although not a member of the United Nations participates in some functions of the world body.

France came through with $239,000.

World-Wide Drug Rings Hit

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI)—Police said Wednesday they had seized 14 five-gumblers and an international narcotics ring along with 110 pounds of morphine base, destined to have been sold in the U.S. for an estimated $5,000,000.

Police arrested Ahmed Soy, Sel, Sefer Bezi, Ali Bezi, Ramiz Zeren and Mustafa Ozer after detectives posed as wealthy would-be buyers. They said two other members of the ring, Fahrettin Soy and Adil Oskurt, escaped.

The morphine base found in 52 bags, was to have been shipped to the French port of Marseilles, turned into heroin and then shipped to the U.S.

Police said they were tipped off a month ago about the illegal trade, run under the front of a business office. It was considered the biggest narcotics ring uncovered through Turkish-American co-operation.

MONTREAL (CP)—The RCMP announced Wednesday that narcotics with an estimated wholesale value of counterfeit bills totalling between $5,000 and $8,000 and an underworld value exceeding $1,000,000. Four men have been arrested in connection with the counterfeit money and another charged with possession of unregistered firearms.

Court Rejects Bid By U.S. Rail Unions

CHICAGO (AP)—A United States circuit court of appeals declined Wednesday to block a move by U.S. railroads to put into effect sweeping changes in the work rules of their operating unions.

The three-judge appeals court upheld the order of a U.S. district court which dismissed a complaint of the five operating brotherhoods.

The changes in work rules, the railroads said, would eliminate unnecessary work which they call "featherbedding" and save them $582,000,000 a year.

The proposed rules also were expected to result eventually in elimination of 65,000 jobs.

Pat Aldous of Farmer Construction Bays, above, and quarterback Doug White of Nanaimo Redmen have been named co-winners of the Mayo Trophy as most valuable player in the Vancouver Island Juvenile Football League. They will be presented with awards at half-time of Little Grey Cup game at Royal Athletic Park Friday night.

Rams' Balance, Depth Big Factors in Success

Island football fans will be looking at a pretty good football club tomorrow night at Royal Athletic Park, and it just might be that they will be looking at two good ones when Nanaimo Redmen, Island champions, take on the pride of Manitoba, the Winnipeg West End Rams, in the "Little Grey Cup" game for the juvenile championship of Western Canada.

One thing that the game will show will be the progress being made in the self-named Island minor football program. The Redmen will be up against a bona fide champion from a city which has more than 5,000 youngsters playing football in perhaps the finest organization of its kind in Canada and an organization which is well into its second decade of operation.

Coach Ron Mahoney of the Rams says that more than 4,000 youngsters between nine and 15 years of age are playing six-man football in leagues under the supervision of the Winnipeg parks board. They graduate from there to a minor league setup which includes eight bantam, eight midget, six juvenile and two junior clubs. In addition, there are four intermediate teams and eight high school teams.

Out of this vast pool of talent, the Rams have come up with one of the finer juvenile clubs produced in Winnipeg. They were formed in 1956, have made the league playoffs each year and won the league championship in 1959 and this year.

BEST CLUB

Mahoney rates this club as his best. It isn't big but it is fast and versatile and no less than 17 of his 31 players are at the maximum juvenile age of 19.

"Our strong point," he says, "is that it doesn't seem to matter who I send out there. We have balance in depth."

PERFECT SEASON

His club's record backs him up. Although the Rams are the smallest club in their league—at that their defensive line averages 195 pounds—they will go into tomorrow night's game raking a perfect season.

Rams won 10 straight in league play, scoring 360 points and having only 40 scores against them. They won their semi-final in the playoffs, then bounced Fort Garry Lions, 17-6 and 20-1, in the final.

It was the Lions who beat the Rams out of a trip to Victoria last year by winning the final, but this is the second trip here for Mahoney's club. They helped inaugurate the Little Grey Cup game in 1960.

Mahoney has a varied of fense, using the single wing, winged T and double-fulback formations, and his main threat is through the air and if weather conditions are right, fans will see plenty of passing.

QUICKEST WAY

"Passing is the easiest and quickest way to score," Mahoney says, and he apparently has the talent to strengthen his theory.

Nineteen-year-old Ron Brewster is a fine passer, Mahoney says, and in ends Ray Huxton and John Blitchcock and half-back Ray Markus has the receivers to make his passing ability count.

MOST VALUABLE

Mackus, perhaps the smallest player on the club, is a double threat. He is the flanker back when the occasion demands and an all-the-way running threat when the Rams port fullbacks Jim Grant and Rich Ritchie into the backfield at the same time. Mackus, who shared league scoring honors with Grant, each getting 78 points, was voted the most valuable player in the league this season.

Mackus, Grant, Blitchcock, centre Ken McCulloch, inside-linebackers John Sorockie and Bruce Cromb and defensive end Pat Gallagher were all picked on the league all-star club this season.

PROUD OF LINE

While the Rams' defensive record speaks for itself, Mahoney seems proudest of his offense. His offence line averages out at about 180 pounds but it has the mobility to make the Rams' varied offence work. "We'll throw a lot if we can," Mahoney says but there is a promise in the words that the Rams will do well enough if it comes up mud tomorrow night.

Game time is 8:30.

Best in Canada

Three winners of the Canadian Schenley Football Awards for 1962 hold the coveted trophy which went this year to George Dixon (centre), fullback with the Montreal Alouettes. Dixon was named most outstanding player; Harvey Wyke (left), defensive half with Calgary Stampeders, was selected Canadian player of the year; and John Barrow (right), defensive tackle with Hamilton Tiger-Cats, was picked as lineman of the year. (See story, Page 13.)

Dormans Share Top After Clubbing Kings

Club	W	L	T	P	Apts
Kings	4	2	1	2	9
Dormans	3	2	1	2	9
Northwest	3	2	1	2	9
Victoria	3	2	1	2	9

Last night's scores: Dormans 3, Kings 2.

Dormans, who've pulled the greatest awakening since Sleeping Beauty, climbed up into a share of first place in the Independent Hockey League last night at Memorial Arena by thrashing Kings, 3-2.

Dormans share the lead with Kings as a result of the victory. Dormans Garage are only two points behind, having trip-pled Northwest Creamery, 3-1 in the first game of a doubleheader.

Three players scored two goals each last night for Dormans, who broke the game open with three goals in six minutes of the second period.

Ron Jay, Gary Howard and Bob MacFarland each scored twice and accounted for the last six goals.

George Sears and Larry Brooks scored the first two Dormans goals, matched by Dave Stone and Jim Bronson of Kings.

BIG GUNS

Metro Kaplanchuk and Bob Harris did the big shooting for Dormans. Kaplanchuk tied the score at 1-1 in the first period and Harris put them ahead to stay later in that session.

Del Brown scored in the third period for insurance. Dave Craig counted for Northwesters to get the game started.

Dixon Wins Player Prize

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's three top professional football players have chosen Hamilton Tiger-Cats to win the Grey Cup this year.

Tiger-Cats and Winnipeg Blue Bombers tangled Saturday at Canadian National Exhibition Stadium in the annual classic, starting at 1 p.m. EST.

Named by football writers and broadcasters in the Canadian Football League cities Wednesday night were fullback George Dixon of Montreal Alouettes as Player of the Year, safety Harvey Wylie of Calgary Stampeders as Canadian of the Year and defensive tackle John Barrow of Teks as Lineman of the Year.

FINEST YEAR

In an interview following announcement of their awards, Dixon said: "It is the culmination of my finest year."

"Several things led to this, including the fact I was drawing from 3½ years experience since I came to Canada.

"It also was the best team I've played on since I've come to Canada and, because of injuries, I've had to carry more of the load on offense . . .

TOO MANY INJURIES

" . . . I'm going to have to go with Hamilton Saturday. Winnipeg has picked up too many injuries at a key time. They don't look as good as they have in the past."

Barrow also chose Hamilton, as was expected, although he said: "Nobody is taking them (Winnipeg) for granted."

MIXED EMOTIONS

Wylie, the first player who played his college football in the United States to become eligible for the Canadian award, had mixed emotions concerning the honor accorded him.

It was Wylie, whose scuffed kick set up the touchdown by Winnipeg end Farrell Funtun that won the game for Bombers in the western final.

"I'm very pleased to receive the award, but I'm very sorry the team isn't here with me."

Stolen Red Flag Turns Up Again

IROQUOIS FALLS, Ont. (CP) — The touring Russian hockey team's national flag, stolen from the Abitibi arena here Monday night during the team's game against Kapuskasing, was found Wednesday afternoon.

Russian tempers flared over the disappearance of the flag and they said they would not appear at their final game of the nine-game Canadian tour in Winnipeg last night if the flag wasn't retrieved or replaced.

Warns Jim Trimble

Crippled Bombers 'Better Be Ready'

HAMILTON (CP) — Outspoken Jim Trimble, still talking as confidently as ever about his Hamilton Tiger-Cats whipping Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the Grey Cup game Saturday, isn't taking all the talk about the Bombers' being in bad shape from injuries too seriously.

The talkative Hamilton coach indicated Wednesday he thinks the westerners are throwing up a smoke screen about their crippled state for the East-West final. He plans to find out quickly in the game whether they are as severely weakened as it has been made out.

"Whether these players come in lame, half dead or blind, they'd better be ready," Trimble said. "We'll try to go to work on them to find out for ourselves if they are as severely injured as Winnipeg would like us to think."

The burly Trimble compared the two teams in a talk to the Tiger-Cats' Quarterback Club in a downtown hotel and then held court for western and eastern reporters in his office in the team's dressing room, explaining further why he thought this year's Hamilton team is the best of the five he has led to the Grey Cup final in the last six years.

Trimble said the Tiger-Cats have improved considerably since their Sept. 10 game in Hamilton when the defending Grey Cup champion Bombers defeated them 16-10 to hand the Tcats their first loss after three straight wins and a tie.

BETTER, BALANCED

"We are better balanced, offensively and defensively with a little more size," he said. "We don't have an experienced quarterback to match Winnipeg's Kenny Floo, with Bernie Faloney out definitely with his knee injury."

However, his two young quarterbacks, Joe Zuger, the 22-year-old rookie from Arizona State College, and Frank Cosentino, a 24-year-old Canadian from the University of Western Ontario, have matured rapidly in the latter part of the season after Faloney was hurt.

"I don't think we'll be at a disadvantage because of Zuger's lack of experience," Trimble added. "Our quarterbacking has been increasingly productive and imaginative. It has been improving in every game. Zuger takes a rush pretty well and he runs pretty well when the rush is tough. I don't feel we have to sweat about that."

1:15—Sgt. Toke, Sgt. McKay, PO. Alexander, A. N. Other.
1:30—Lt. McKenna, Sgt. Peterson, S/O. McMichael, A. N. Other.

It was in that game the Tiger-Cats realized that Faloney, who injured his knee two games previously and who has since undergone a cartilage operation, wasn't sound. He played practically the entire game but wasn't too effective and when he was hurt again in the next game Trimble started a rebuilding job around Zuger and Cosentino, adding several players and changing to a more wide-open attack.

Ken Watson's CURLING

It may be diabolical to say that a truly competitive player has the "killer" instinct, yet it is true. Admittedly, some have it imbedded in their mental framework to a greater degree. Our original second man was never happy until we were nine up coming home. On the ice he was a real fighter yet in the clubrooms you could never sense this feeling.

Champions in any game are "killers" to a greater or lesser degree. Richardson, Baldwin, Gervais, Campbell, Walsh and even Watson, were guilty of this sadistic frame of mind when engaged in curling combat. They all pressed their advantage relentlessly, for bitter experience had taught the lesson that if you keep the line tight your prey can't get away.

WHY NOT?

Not long ago, when the writer was skipping a "friendly" against a young rink of visitors from St. Paul, Minnesota, his third man sauntered up after his shot and said: "Ken, we are five up on these kids, why not ease up?" The next end we did just that and when the smoke cleared away they scored a juicy six points.

In this situation, Black stones are "ours." White stones belong to the opponents. What would you do?

Curling Question Of the Week

Dear Mr. Watson: Since losing a game when we were five up coming home, I've hardly slept a wink. To make my nightmares worse, we were lying a well-guarded shot when I played my last stone to replace No. 2. In so doing I set up a double for the opposing skip. Please help my insomnia.

MORT. I. FIED.

Dear Mort: The only tranquilizer I can offer is that I was Santa Claus once, too. With the setup you show in the diagram, you would have been better off if you had slipped in the back. Then one man, two boys and a crowbar could not have dislocated No. 1. A draw to No. 9 position or anywhere in front of the rings would have turned your insomnia into pleasant dreams.

When recruiting your players, consider the competitive curler whose laugh at game end hides his real feelings. Grab the man who likes the challenge of competition and thrives under it. It takes a long look to find him.

NO SUBSTITUTE

Brilliance is no substitute for consistency. Most sports where statistics are compiled prove this point. In curling, particularly at the championship level, it has become common practice to keep a points score for each player on the team. The resulting percentages do not take into consideration one or two brilliant shots. They simply register in cold figures the consistency score for the team and for each member.

Nor does the procession of numbers consider the flashy shot-maker whose body English and rink-length histrionics embellish the dramatic content of the shot he is playing. Give me the guy who makes shot after shot with no outward aplomb.

"Arnie" Richardson, vice-skip of the World's Champions, wins the "Oscar" in this regard. With him there is no ceremony after the rock leaves his hand. He backs off and over to the sideboards and strokes his chin while his stone moves unerringly to its target.

Soviets Win In Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Russian international hockey team defeated the senior Winnipeg Maroons 3-0 Wednesday night in the only western game of their current Canadian tour, winding up with a record of eight wins and one loss.

The superbly conditioned Russians took on one of the west's perennial Allan Cup hopefuls and were skating rings around them at the end, although the Maroons put up a game display before a crowd of 10,420—a record for the Winnipeg arena for any type of hockey.

Meetings Set For Baseball

Two separate baseball meetings are scheduled for Monday, Dec. 10, both starting at 8 p.m. An extraordinary general meeting of the Victoria and District Amateur Baseball Association for the purpose of electing a vice-president will be held at the Little League clubhouse at Hillside and Cook.

Basement of the Oak Bay Municipal Hall is the site for a meeting to organize a Colt league. Parents of boys interested are asked to attend. Further information may be obtained from Kirby Moysey at EV 2-7069 or Jim Carson at EV 2-6533.

THE PALMER METHOD

by Arnold Palmer

THERE ARE TIMES WHEN YOU SHOULD LAG PUTTS

Sideline putting is an art. If the green is hand-picked or sun-baked or if the putt is fairly long (over 15 feet), I usually try to log the ball to a distance just equal to the hole, and let the roll take it into the cup (see illustration #1).

On shorter putts or when the green is wet and/or heavy, my follow-through is more abrupt as I hit for less roll. I'd rather "go for the cup."

In illustration #3, my follow-through is abbreviated for the shorter sideline putt, especially on a green in which Bermuda and rye grass predominate. Such grass slows the ball's progress. Rain, of course, will slow even the slickest of the northern bent grass greens.

Drug Store Biggest In Province

British Columbia's biggest drug store will open Friday at the new Hillside Plaza, at Hillside and Shelbourne.

Built by Cunningham, Ltd., along the lines of a supermarket, the store features in addition to its dispensary, a wide selection of goods which runs to toys, baby foods, glassware, radios, electric razors and tools.

Sooke Car Smashes Into Bridge

Only minor injuries were suffered by a Sooke man when his car smashed into the end of a bridge on the West Coast Road near Point No Point early yesterday.

Imre Visy was treated at St. Joseph's Hospital for minor lacerations and released.

The accident happened about 5 a.m. After colliding with the end of the bridge the car skidded and hit an earth bank.

INEXPENSIVE AUTO

The famous Ford model "T" car sold for as little as $295 in 1923.

When Cunningham's opened a 5,000-square-foot store in Victoria four years ago, it was considered one of the largest in the province. The new Hillside Plaza store has a little more than doubled that size.

The store's 12 full-time employees will keep in touch throughout the building by means of an intercom system and a public address system pipes music throughout the store.

SPLIT DISPENSARY

A split dispensary, with an entrance in the middle instead of at the end, has been designed to give the druggist greater freedom of movement.

Second store to open at the plaza will be a Safeway supermarket, which will open next Wednesday.

Built in a rounded design, the market has a high, arched ceiling, supported by five wooden beams.

VARIEITY OF STORES

The plaza will also include a barber shop and beauty parlor, hardware store, laundry, bank, bakery and a fried chicken store.

Started late this summer, the last of the stores is scheduled for completion early in the new year.

Amid the deafening salutes of nearby tugs and ships, the $3,500,000 Mv. Queen of Saanich, first of the queens, slides gracefully down the ways. Hundreds drove to James Bay yesterday to see launching of latest B.C. government ferry at Victoria Machinery Depot. At right is Queen of Esquimalt, to be launched in January. Panoramic photograph was taken from Ogden Point grain elevator.

Queen Goes To Sea

By DON GAIN

Victoria shipbuilder Harold Husband said yesterday the B.C. government is getting a good bargain in the ferries Queen of Saanich and Queen of Esquimalt.

The president of Victoria Machinery Depot made the statement at yesterday's launching ceremonies for the Queen of Saanich, attended by 200 persons.

HAPPY DAY

"It's a happy day," beamed Premier Bennett. "We are indebted to VMD for a wonderful job at low prices. We called for tenders everywhere in the world and the lowest was right here in Victoria."

19 VESSELS

Mr. Bennett said tenders would be called within a month for two more ferries to be used on the Nanaimo run in 1964. He also promised that all profits from the ferry system would be plowed back into the operation.

NEXT IN JANUARY

The two Queens, first of the government ferries to bear this name, are being built at a cost of $3,500,000 each. The Queen of Esquimalt will be launched in January.

Mr. Bennett said they would both be used to provide hourly service on the Swartz Bay-Taswanen run this summer. Another ferry, Queen of the Islands, to be built by Burrard Drydock, will also be in operation this summer, between Taswanen and the Gulf Islands, he said.

Mr. Bennett counted up the vessels in the government's fleet: nine built, five acquired from Black Ball and five smaller Gulf Island ferries: 19 in all.

He said he believed this was the largest fleet of this type in the world. "And the best," he added.

The reason for being best, he said, was the management, the captains and all crew members.

HELPS ECONOMY

"We intend to keep on making money," he said. "On the Swartz Bay-Taswanen run since we started we have carried 870,736 cars and trucks and 2,831,839 passengers."

"People are moving on and off the island as they never did before. This helps the economy of the island. The B.C. tourist business today is one of the best in Canada."

SPONSOR

The fifth ship built for the B.C. Toll Authority Ferry System was christened by Mrs. Tiedalle, wife of Saanich MLA John Tiedalle.

Brilliant sunshine and blue skies drew hundreds of people to Dallas Road to watch the launching. Special police were needed to handle automobiles parked throughout the Outer Wharf section of James Bay.

The Mv. Coho paused outside the harbor on her Port Angeles run to join other ships at Ogden Point in saluting the newly-launched queen.

Optimists Meet

Victoria Optimists meet today at 12:10 p.m. on the fifth floor, Yarrow Building.

Newest Ferry Much Improved

Additional lights at life raft stations, larger public wash-rooms and wider tables in the snack bar are some of the improvements in the new government ferry, Queen of Saanich, according to naval architect Jorgen Baas of VMD.

Other improvements Mr. Baas outlined are:

- New type of engines.
- Better ventilation system in engine room.
- Windows in wheelhouse lowered to improve vision.
- Blackout curtains extended further aft to aid night navigation.
- Generator house streamlined for more pleasing appearance.

- Some areas given eight coats of paint.
- Tonnage openings moved from aft to forward end of car deck to reduce causes of vibration.
- Additional structural stiffening added in aft end, also to cut down on vibration.
- Control booth in engine room increased in size.
- Improvements in piping systems.

Mr. Baas pointed out that more Canadian equipment was used because of subsidy requirements.

"An interesting point," he said, "is that these government ferries are the widest ships ever built on Vancouver Island. They all have the same beam, 78 feet, 7½ inches."

Saanich Taxes Sure to Rise

By JACK FRY

Saanich taxpayers were told last night there is no hope of anything but increasing taxes, regardless of how they vote on the amalgamation referendum.

Sixty persons attending an all-candidates meeting at Lake Hill Women's Institute Hall seemed disappointed that no candidate would promise to hold the tax line where it is now.

TWO EVILS

It seemed to be a question of which is the lesser of two evils—autonomy or amalgamation.

Coun. Chard, seeking re-election on an amalgamation platform, said bluntly that, if the ratepayers vote no on the referendum and return him to council, he will vote in favor of building a new municipal hall which will cost about $500,000.

"New cross roads will be needed at the Tatterson-Cedar

Merger Or Not

Hill line and at the McKenzie Avenue line, and it is vital we acquire major park land tracts now while the price is low," he said.

Reeve Stanley Murphy said he thinks taxes will rise if Saanich amalgamates, but "I'm convinced they will rise anyway."

TRYING AGAIN

Former councillor Leslie Pasmore, trying again for a council seat, said taxes will be higher under amalgamation than they would be if Saanich continues to govern itself.

He also said the day will come when the department of health demands Victoria stop dumping untreated sewage off its beachfronts and Saanich residents would have to help pay the city's cost of modernizing sewers, under amalgamation.

Coun. Joseph Casey, seeking re-election, said Victoria's Arthur Dowell yesterday confirmed his statement the waterboard will make its last payment next year to the city of Victoria.

"I still say, who is going to make up the money they will be short on the revenue side of their ledger? If we amalgamate, it will be you."

ALMOST EQUAL

Coun. Harold Todd, also seeking re-election, said amalgamations do not tell the voters Saanich's borrowing power is "almost equal to that of the city." Saanich has no direct debt and "city tax rates will have to rise about three mills next year because Victoria will receive its final payment from the water board."

Donald Mathison said "we've been talking about amalgamation for 20 solid years. Let's have a look at it."

POLITICIANS

"This is almost laughable," to think the government would intervene and force amalgamation, he said. "The provincial government wants to be re-elected—they are not going to upset the people, they are politicians."

C. H. MacMillan said Saanich should get on with building its new hall.

ONE TO ANOTHER

When a person goes to the municipal hall at Royal Oak to pay his taxes, "it's like a nightmare, going from one place to another." He also plumped for development of municipal services in one spot, rather than "jumping around."

Coun. Gregory Cook said "I have not been convinced at this point at all... that amalgamation is the answer. At the moment, Saanich would be considered the junior member," and the municipality should wait until it can "amalgamate on equal terms."

Didn't Mean That!

Slip Beside Ship Wins Casey Buss

Mrs. Stanley Murphy, wife of the reeve of Saanich, said the wrong thing in a moment of excitement during yesterday's launching of the Queen of Saanich.

In accepting a presentation from Premier Bennett, she apparently said, "I hope my husband's wishes do not come true, because if they do there will be no more Saanich."

Coun. Joseph Casey related the incident last night at an all-candidates meeting, declaring that "we have gained a supporter."

"I rushed over, shook her hand and kissed her," he said, adding, "I suggest to the reeve that he had better start amalgamating his own home."

"That sly old Irish fox took advantage of a slip of my wife's tongue this afternoon, to run over and buss her," retorted Reeve Murphy.

"Apparently she was so overwhelmed at receiving a presentation from Premier Bennett that she was completely unaware she put a 'no' or a 'not' in the wrong place," he said.

Mrs. Murphy, reached by telephone, said she had intended to say: "If my husband has his way, there will be no more Saanich, and this beautiful ship will be a perpetual reminder of the municipality."

"How about one for the wife?"

"No thanks, she doesn't like sports."

"How about one for your son?"

Merger Supporters 'Settled' for Words

Why was Saanich's Dec. 6 referendum worded: "Are you in favor of amalgamation of the district of Saanich with the city of Victoria?"

This question was asked at two all-candidate meetings by persons who wanted to know why the wording did not read: "Are you in favor of a study of amalgamation?"

Reeve Stanley Murphy said at last night's meeting "feeling was so strong on council," with three for amalgamation and four opposed, it was a wonder the referendum got through council at all.

After being defeated in two previous efforts for a study of amalgamation, amalgamation supporters "settled for that much," rather than risk not getting a referendum at all by arguing over its wording, said the reeve.

Coun. Robert Chard confirmed the reeve's statement, and said "I felt like a drowning man grasping at a straw" when he seconded Coun. Joseph Casey's motion for a referendum.

Distances, Floods and Drought Make Outback a Man's Country

"The spirit of a people can be told by the songs they sing," the Rev. Bruce J. Molloy told members of Victoria Women's Canadian Club when he addressed them yesterday afternoon in the Crystal ballroom of the Empress Hotel.

Rev. Molloy, a fourth-generation Australian, who has been in Victoria for the past two years, told an interesting story about his native land.

The national songs "Botany Bay," "Waltzing Matilda" and "Advance Australia" were cited by Mr. Molloy as depicting the three stages of the country.

"Botany Bay" refers to the first stage when many of the first settlers were convicts. Much has been said about this convict settlement in Australia and no true Australian is ashamed to acknowledge this humble beginning, the speaker said.

Political prisoners. Laws in Britain were very strict at that time, Mr. Molloy said, and many of these "convicts" were political prisoners and those who had committed minor offences.

In "Botany Bay" the cheek and impudence of the words, show the spirit of independence created by the settlers.

"Waltzing Matilda" is a song of the middle or pastoral years, Mr. Molloy said. Matilda was the first woman swagman seen in Victoria.

The swaggy is not to be confused with the North American hobo, said Mr. Molloy. He had a definite place in the labor picture, going from station to station with his personal belongings on his back. Often young men of the country took this way of looking over the great outback for lands of their own.

That the swaggy usually worked his way from home-stead to home-stead in a circle brought about the term "waltzing."

EXAGGERATION

The exaggeration credited to Australia stems from the vastness of the land, Mr. Molloy said. In turn this brings about the carefree informal attitude of the people, he said.

"It is almost a paradox

IODE

A meeting of the committee convened by Mrs. A. McFarlane was held at the home of the regent Mrs. A. W. Flint, to make final arrangements for the Christmas coffee party, planned by the Robert Burns McMicking Chapter, IODE, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Barnes, 3215 Upper Terrace, on Saturday, Dec. 8, from 11:30 to 1 p.m. Mrs. John Church will convene a staff of Christmas home cooking.

when you consider the tremendous loyalty to royalty and to Britain," he said. Knighthoods and honors are still awarded and traditions of belonging to the British way of life are treasured. "This doesn't make us any smaller," the speaker pointed out.

HORSE SPORTS

The Outback is a man's country because of the heat, the distances, the droughts and the floods, Mr. Molloy said. Horse sports are important in this great land and picnic races are occasions, when people from great distances gather together.

The dinner parties and balls that follow these races are formal. Women wear lovely gowns and long white gloves and the men's dress is just as formal.

"They work hard and they play hard in the Outback," he said. Touching on the high standard of sport, Mr. Molloy said "barring a doctor's exemption," students must learn to swim the length of a pool before starting on any other sport. Tennis is another must. Everyone swims and plays tennis.

Man in the Kitchen

By BASIL FITZGIBBON

No collection of game recipes would be complete without some discussion on venison and moose. The big bone of contention seems to be the question of a marinade. I think that either of these meats is improved by the use of a marinade, and here is my favorite recipe:

MARINADE

Two tablespoons oil, 1 cup vinegar; or ½ cup vinegar, ½ cup red wine, ¼ cup sliced carrots, ¼ cup sliced onions, 1 tablespoon salt. Herb bouquet as follows: 6 springs parsley, 1 bay leaf, ½ teaspoon thyme, 6 peppercorns. (These last four ingredients tied together in a piece of cheese-cloth).

Mix the marinade and pour over the meat or bird, and allow to stand for at least six hours, basting and turning frequently.

As I suggest, the question of a marinade is purely a personal one, but whether you use one or not, the following methods of cooking will be of interest:

ROAST OF VENISON

Rub venison with clove of garlic and butter, and sprinkle with ¼ teaspoon of pepper or ½ teaspoon of paprika and a few grains of cayenne. Place the roast uncovered in a moderate oven (325°). Allow 25 to 30 minutes to the pound. Or, place the roast in a 450° oven for ½ hour, then reduce the heat and continue to cook it at 300°, allowing in all 20 minutes to the pound.

Thicken the drippings to make gravy. You may add: consommé or chicken stock, salt, Port, Madeira or Claret, and sour or sweet cream. Garnish the platter with orange slices, currant jelly or orange sauce.

VENISON LOIN STEAKS OR CUTLETS

These may be dipped in olive oil and then seasoned bread crumbs. Broil the steaks or saute them quickly in butter.

Or rub 2 venison steaks with a clove of garlic. Heat until sizzling 1 tablespoon olive oil. Saute the steaks quickly in this until both sides are brown. Season the steaks with salt and paprika. Remove them to a hot platter. Stir into the pan until blended ¼ cup dry sherry, ½ cup thick cream, 1½ tablespoons currant jelly, 2 tablespoons butter. Add additional seasoning if required. Heat but do not boil the sauce. Pour it over the steaks.

VENISON STEAKS

Have meat at room temperature. See that the steaks are crisp and brown on the outside, rare and juicy within.

This means a moderately quick fire. Rub venison steaks with a clove of garlic and a generous amount of butter. Broil the steaks under a broiler or over an open fire. Make this a short process unless the steaks are very thick. Turn them once. Season with salt and paprika or pepper. You may flavor the drippings with sherry and pour them over the steaks.

With steaks or chops you will find that Maitre d'Hotel Butter is a welcome addition:

MAITRE D'HOTEL BUTTER

Cream until it is soft ¼ cup butter, add ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ tablespoon chopped parsley. Add very slowly, stirring the sauce constantly, ¾ to 1½ tablespoons lemon juice.

Chill before serving. A great many people do not like their game meats too gamey or high, and if this is the case and you do not wish to use a marinade, rub the meat well with wine vinegar or lemon juice. Good Hunting and Bon Appetit!

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Thanks for nothing. So you have been picking up after your husband for 24 years and you want another 24, do you? Well, lotsa luck. My husband came home last night, dropped his coat and hat on the floor and said, "Ann Landers says you should pick it up."

I told him his clothes would go out of style if he waited until I picked them up. Are you some kind of a nut or something? I've got six wild kids to run after all day, three meals to fix, lunch boxes to pack, a nine-room house to take care of and laundry stacked to the ceiling. I fall in bed exhausted every night as it is, and you think I should play nursemaid to a 220-pound lout with a warped sense of humor.

A friend of mine told me she heard you are a man. I think she is right. No woman would write such crazy advice. —FORMER READER.

Dear Former: I've said it before and I'll say it again. By the time a man marries he is either an established dropper or a confirmed picker-upper. It all depends on his early training.

If you married a dropper, resign yourself. Don't let his bad habits turn you into a nag. If you married a picker-upper send your mother-in-law a dozen roses.

Dear Ann Landers: Thank you for speaking out in behalf of women in the armed services. As a former WAC officer I can tell you that your words were deeply appreciated.

We never had to face enemy fire but we did have to fight wild rumors and vicious gossip here at home. With thousands of women in uniform it was inevitable that a small percentage would get into trouble. As is always the case, the undesirable characters received a disproportionate amount of publicity.

I wouldn't give a million dollars for my hitch in the service. It afforded me an opportunity to serve my country, see the world and to establish friendships which I cherish to this day. It is one of the richest, most rewarding experiences a young woman can have. —C. R. B.

Dear C. R. B.: Thank you for your thank you. I have already received more than 300 letters saying essentially the same thing. You gals who have been through it have offered irrefutable testimony.

THE UNITED CHURCH WOMEN'S GENERAL MEETING WAS HELD RECENTLY IN THE FELLOWSHIP HALL AUDITORIUM OF FIRST UNITED CHURCH.

Three outstanding speakers took part in the panel discussion. Mrs. H. L. Smith of the Citizenship Council spoke of the naturalization ceremonies and the part a Christian welcome could make in the establishment of these families.

Miss Anne Black, social worker at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, described various types of mental sickness. Mrs. O. H. Lamont, secretary of the Multiple Sclerosis Society dealt with the great need for Physio-Therapists to assist these persons in their homes and also the great need for transportation for treatments.

DISEASE STUDIED
Study of this disease is now being held at the University of British Columbia. Mrs. J. P. Howell was the moderator of the panel, and Mrs. J. A. M. Beers gave the vote of thanks. Mrs. A. H. Sheard presided and announced that the annual meeting would be held in December.

Mystery Pickets Target

VANCOUVER (CP)—Contractor Tom Goode says he has instructed his lawyer to apply for a court injunction to halt mystery picketing of a project he is working on.

Two pickets visited the apartment block Tuesday and four men working there quit work.

One picket turned up Wednesday. He declined to give his name, but said he went to the union hall in the morning and was given $6 to picket the apartment project.

He declined to give his union affiliation, but admitted to the contractor and a reporter he did not know why he was sent to picket the project. The pickets have been carrying signs saying: "Non-union men are working on the job."

Mr. Goode said he does not know of any non-union men working on the project. Former Liberal MP for Burnaby-Richmond, he said he suspects politics are involved in the dispute.

He charged two union officials recently threatened to harass him politically. He didn't name them.

Air Merger Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Civil Aeronautics Board examiner recommended rejection of a request by American and Eastern Airlines to merge as it would tend to create a monopoly.

Examiner Ralph L. Wiser said neither airline is falling nor is unduly weak.

Salmon Total New High

VANCOUVER (Special)—B.C.'s 1962 salmon fishery, which set a record earlier for a pink salmon catch, has set another new mark — most salmon taken in one season.

The federal fisheries department's economics branch says the total catch to Oct. 31 was 32,600,000 salmon of all species and there will be only slight changes in the last two months.

This is far above any total since 1951, when the present system of tabulating salmon landings was introduced, and likely will top most years before 1951.

The pink salmon catch of 23,400,000 fish was nearly 75 per cent of the total. Coho catch of 3,600,000 was the highest since the 4,000,000 in 1951 while the 3,500,000 sockeye were well below the 12,000,000 of 1958, the cycle year, reflecting disappointing returns to the Fraser River this year.

Nuisance Tactics Restrained

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mr. Justice T. W. Brown Wednesday granted Zellers Limited an injunction restraining demonstrations in the firm's department store at nearby Whalley.

The Supreme Court justice, however, rejected a request that the injunction apply to the firm's other stores in the province.

Mr. Justice Brown said too many injunctions were being granted in labor matters.

Zellers applied for the order to end nuisance tactics used at the store which has employed non-union employees following a strike by the Wholesale Clerks' Union.

The court was told persons flocked into the store, loaded carts, had the cashiers check them through, then asked if the store was a union shop. When told it wasn't they dropped their purchases.

U.S., Allies Propose Trade-Aid

PARIS (UPI)—The United States and its Atlantic Community partners agreed Wednesday on a broad American-sponsored "trade-with-aid" program, to help developing nations pay their own way.

In a resolution proposed by the U.S. and adopted by the council of ministers of the 20-nation Organization for Economic Co-Operation and Development, they recommended that underdeveloped countries be helped to expand their exports of both raw materials and processed goods.

They agreed this would mean opening up their own markets to competition from developing countries.

They agreed also to integrate their foreign aid programs with other measures designed to stabilize the economies of the new countries.

The agreement was made public in a communique winding up a two-day session of the ministers in Paris.

The "trade-with-aid" proposal was launched by U.S. Under Secretary of State George W. Ball in a speech to the council.

Ball said it is impossible to advise the less-developed nations to expand and diversify their production and then exclude it from western markets.

OECD disclosed that the U.S. in 1961 handed out $4.6 billion out of a total of $8.7 billion given by the free west.

He said the 20,000 kilowatt

Canadian, Khrushchev Have 'Friendly Talk'

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Khrushchev and Canadian Ambassador Arnold C. Smith had "a friendly talk" in the Kremlin Wednesday on Soviet-Canadian relations and "certain international problems," the news agency Tass said.

Tass said Smith requested the meeting, which deputy foreign minister Yakov Malik also attended.

Nuclear Unit Successful

WASHINGTON (UPI)—J. L. Gray, head of Canada's atomic energy program, told a meeting of nuclear energy experts Wednesday that Canada's first nuclear power station is performing successfully and that the second is being built cheaper than was estimated originally.

Gray, president of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., the federal atomic agency, reviewed Canada's nuclear development program in a paper presented at the annual conference of the Atomic Industrial Forum here.

He said the 20,000 kilowatt nuclear power demonstration station that went critical in April has encountered "the usual type of mechanical difficulties" but that no major faults have turned up.

The station "is not only producing electric power very successfully but it is producing very significant results needed to confirm some of the basic design concepts of the heavy water pressure tube reactor system," Gray said.

BELOW ESTIMATES

He said construction of the 200 megawatt Douglas Point generating station, scheduled for completion in 1964, at present is running 5 per cent below estimated costs. Total cost of the station was estimated in 1959 at $81,000,000 to $89,000,000.

INCREASE OFFSET

Gray said the devaluation of the Canadian dollar had added about $1,500,000 to the cost, but that this was offset by reduced outlays in other areas.

The Douglas Point station will be operated by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission when it is finished. After a two or three-year proving period, Ontario Hydro will buy the plant from the federal agency.

Reds Say Briton Confessed

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet citizens received a new warning against spies yesterday in the wake of a series of expulsions of western diplomats and a claim that a British businessman had pleaded guilty to espionage.

The businessman, Greville Wynne, 42, apparently seized in Budapest Nov. 2, had been missing until Tuesday.

Wynne remained incommunicado in Soviet custody at some undisclosed location, probably Lubyanka prison in the centre of Moscow. He faces a maximum penalty of death.

Death Cell Yields No Prints

PRINCE ALBERT (CP)—A policeman testified Wednesday that no fingerprints suitable for identification purposes were found in a Prince Albert penitentiary cell where a convict was stabbed to death Aug. 16.

He was testifying during the second day of a preliminary hearing for convicts Cecil John Lavery, 20, of Winnipeg, and Gerald William Haynes, 24, of Edmonton, on a joint charge of capital murder. They were charged after the body of Russell MacConville of Calgary was found by a penitentiary guard in a cell.

Lionel Roy, identification officer for the Prince Albert city police department, said he checked the cell for usable fingerprints but could find none.

Delegation to NATO Called Political Plum

OTTAWA (CP)—The Journal says the greatest lesson learned by Canada's 15 representatives to the NATO parliamentarians conference in Paris was that they could not truly represent their country there.

In a report by Gordon Dewar who attended the meeting, the newspaper says the senator and MPs did not have the background or experience necessary to engage in committee debates or plenary sessions.

JUST 'JUNKET'

The newspaper quotes William Skoreyko (PC—Edmonton

East), delegation leader, as saying the trip was nothing more than a junket with positions on the delegation handed out by parties "as a plum for the members who have done the right things."

Mr. Skoreyko said this may have been true even in his own case and that he may have, approached the trip in that light. He said that in his report to the government he would recommend a degree of permanency in the Canadian delegation.

"We were up against some of the top men from the United States, United Kingdom, France and Germany," he said. "But we were untutored, lacking the extensive briefs which might have enabled us to deal with these men on the same level."

The United States delegation consisted of prominent politicians such as Senators Estes Kefauver, George Smathers, Homer Capehart and Harry Byrd. Most of them had taken part in the conference for three to seven years.

LITTLE HELP

They were accompanied by a staff of eight top experts and researchers in the fields of foreign relations, economics and defence.

There was no such aid for the Canadian delegation although it was given some help by the Canadian permanent staff at NATO, headed by George Ignatieff.

OTTAWA—Mrs. Golda Meir, Israel's foreign affairs minister, arrived for a three-day visit that will include meetings with Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Mayor Charlotte Whitton.

Group to Promote Highway 1A Firms

An organization of motel owners and other businessmen operating on Highway 1A has been formed to promote business along the highway.

Tourism Meeting

All motel operators from the south of Vancouver Island up to Duncan are invited to a meeting to discuss tourism and tourist publicity beginning at 8 p.m. tonight in the Princess Charlotte Room, Empress Hotel.

On hand will be H. J. Plante, head of the B.C. Auto Courts and Resorts Association.

India Aid Object Of Canvass

A committee to canvass Vancouver Island for money to help India in the border war with Red China will be formed in Victoria this week. Kuldeep Bains of Bains Travel Service will lead the formation.

He said a tentative objective of from $40,000 to $50,000 is proposed. About $40,000 was raised in a two-week campaign on the B.C. mainland.

United Fund Short By $12,757?

Victoria's 1962 United Appeal drive may miss the $360,000 target by a slightly larger margin than the $9,000 shortage predicted 10 days ago. Only $347,243 was actually "substantiated" at the appeal office late yesterday — $12,757 short.

CLEANUP DRIVE

But secretary Arthur Goff said a "cleanup" of pledges and canvassing kits is continuing.

A possibility of collecting "a thousand dollars or so" in one or two drive divisions still exists, Mr. Goff said, "but we're just guessing."

ONE PER CENT

For example, one "kit" with $450 and individual donations totalling $25 came in the Wednesday mail.

If the final total remained at the figure yesterday, it would represent 96.45 per cent of the target, not the predicted 97.5 per cent.

ON TRENDS

Exactly $337,219 was in the hands of officials when the campaign officially closed, with the remainder to the $351,000 mark a "projection" based on earlier campaigns and donation trends.

However, Mr. Goff said he "still feels" the final total will reach $350,000.

Society Moves Meeting Place

The meeting of the Victoria Horticultural Society scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday will be held in the cafeteria of the Douglas Building instead of in the City Hall as previously announced.

Dr. Thomas Taylor of UBC will give an illustrated talk on Japanese gardens.

CLEARER MARKINGS

The organization also plans to ask the provincial government to clearly mark the highway which is now so vaguely indicated in spots that tourists stray off it or think they have when they haven't, Mr. Armonson said.

Sport Fishing Facing Death

Danger that Vancouver Island's sport-fishing industry may be wiped out was voiced yesterday by conservationists and a Victoria Chamber of Commerce committee.

Officials of the Amalgamated Conservation Societies of Vancouver Island met a committee instructed by the Chamber's tourist trade group to study the problem.

Sam Lane of the committee said discussion included ways and means of bringing the attention of federal and provincial governments to the decline in numbers of salmon, especially coho.

The coho run has about halved in the past 10 years, he said, and if the present trend continues the sport-fishing industry could be wiped out.

Lions Club Backs Square Plan

The third major civic group in a week has endorsed the Centennial Victoria Square plan.

With this project "we will be building a tomorrow for our sons and their sons," Jack Tang-told the Chinatown Lions Club last night following an illustrated talk by Ald. A. W. Toone and city planner Rodrick Clack.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Yesterday afternoon nearly 400 senior citizens attended a special meeting on the project in St. Andrew's Kirk Hall.

A spokesman said Victoria Square was an ideal location for a senior citizens' recreation centre.

Last Wednesday the Victoria and District Labor Council endorsed the project.

Wheels Spin As Tot Gulps Toy

A tot that swallowed a small toy wheel set 10 big wheels in action before the trouble was taken care of last night.

A fire department inhalator crew and the police patrol wagon converged on 631 Cornwall where Claire Hulzen, 13 months, was reported to have swallowed the toy.

But the youngster worked out the problem with no help by coughing up the wheel before the emergency squad arrived.

Salute to Forsythia

By M. V. CROOK, F.R.S.

If I had to award a medal for the most trouble-free of all our flowering shrubs, I believe the first name to come to mind would be the Forsythia, named in honor of William Forsyth, king's gardener at Kensington and St. James's in the late years of the 18th century. Forsyth himself was a bit of a rogue, and succeeded in flim-flaming the government out of £1,500 in a neat con game, but the shrub that bears his name is a honey.

It opens its dainty golden bells to greet the spring almost before the winter is over. In fact, at our house we have vases filled with Forsythia sprays as early as January by the simple expedient of cutting the bare branches in winter and bringing them indoors to open their buds in the warmth.

Forsythia is certainly a most undemanding shrub, for it will thrive in almost any kind of soil and on the north, south, east or west side of the house. You can grow them as a specimen in the lawn, in a shrub border, against a wall, and even in the rock garden, for there are dwarf varieties admirably suited for this purpose.

As a companion to other shrubs, or to grow by itself as a lawn specimen, one of the varieties known as the "intermedia" group should be chosen. Probably the most popular in this class is Forsythia intermedia spectabilis, which blooms very freely with deep yellow bells and with an erect and rather spraying habit of growth. Almost identical with spectabilis but with a softer shade of yellow is the variety prunifolia.

These two are more or less standard kinds, selling for around $2, but there are especially selected strains which are even more beautiful. From Ireland comes Lynwood Gold, which was discovered as a sport growing from a single branch of spectabilis. This one is more erect than the parent type, and the branches literally smother themselves with the biggest golden bells ever seen on any Forsythia. It has a companion in pale primrose yellow called Spring Glory, and these are priced a little higher, usually about $3 each.

For training on a wall or trellis, the one to buy is Forsythia suspensa, with long, whip-like branches of pendulous habit—almost a weeping habit of growth. Several varieties of suspensa are available; Forsythia suspensa atrovirens is particularly good, with slender, hanging branches of deep purple bark contrasting beautifully with the sulphur yellow flowers. The varieties fortunei and decipiens can get along with surprisingly little sunshine and will bloom their heads off on a north-facing wall or trellis.

The pruning of a Forsythia consists simply of cutting away the old wood to make room for new growth, but the treatment for these two groups, intermedia and suspensa, is somewhat different.

A new shoot on intermedia won't bear any blossoms until it has had at least two summers to ripen and harden its wood, but thereafter it will continue to produce bloom for several seasons. The trick here, therefore, is to maintain a supply of ripe but not ancient shoots coming along, and taking out the older growths after they show signs of exhaustion.

The recommended time to prune Forsythia is just after blooming, but with intermedia it pays to do the job while the shrub is actually in bloom, combining pruning with harvesting. Take lots of sprays to fill the vases in the house, but make your selection from shoots where the bloom is a little on the thin side. If you take out such shoots in their entirety, discarding the portions not needed for your vases, you will be pruning the plant correctly.

Suspensa, however, is a kitten from a different litter. This Forsythia—and its varieties—blooms best on new wood formed the previous year, and the trick here is to cut back all side shoots to two buds from the base. Do this every year just after the blossoms fade and lots of new, strong side shoots will form during the summer, ready to bloom the following spring.

Brigitte Lines Up No. 3

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Brigitte Bardot and actor Gregory Peck will marry in Paris in the springtime. . . . But Jacques Charrier whom Brigitte is divorcing (he was her second mate), will contest her custody of their small son . . . which is one thing Fann Masson will never have to worry about with gentleman James Masson. He believes that children belong with mother.

If there is a child Oscar winner this year, it will have to be little Mary Badham who plays Scout Finch, daughter of Atticus—Gregory Peck—in To Kill a Mockingbird. The boy in this picture, Phillip Alford, also is very good. To sum up briefly, the movie is as good as the book.

Marian Brande, who loves Oriental girls and objects d'art—the same thing perhaps—has bought the Japanese-style house he has been renting in Bel Air. Fann Parker is in big business with his $1,500,000 home development, Rancho Santa Barbara.

I've just learned why Peter Sellers managed to squeeze The Pink Panther in between half a dozen other assignments—he is being paid $250,000 for the comparatively small role. The reason Peter Ustinov is out of the picture, by the way, has nothing to do with the script. His contract stated he would appear on condition that Ava Gardner did. When Ava left, he walked.

Dick Powell talked Richard Widmark—one of the best actors I have ever seen—into starring in The Judge.

Paul Newman's attack on Pat Neal in Hud Bannon is so savage that I'm wondering if the scene will pass the British censors who are strict about such things. Paul's new movie, Samantha, co-starring wife Joanne Woodward and Maurice Chevalier, is less savage, more of a comedy.

Jane Fonda is the hottest candidate for the vitriolic newshen role in MGM's version of The Prize, the Irving Wallace best seller. But just how many parts can this talented daughter of Henry Fonda accept?

Things are cooler on the Tony Curtis-Christina Kaufman romance front. Her photographer brother is in California with them. And, it seems, no longer opposing the marriage. Well, that's good news. Tony prefers marriage with his romantic relationship.

Authors Use Togetherness

By CHARLES McDOWELL

The world has been led to think of a writer as a lonely man, suffering in a terrible solitude as he tries to tune in his Muse. This is an old-fashioned idea. Actually, the writer may not be in the least lonely, and his Muse may well be Joe Muse, his earthly collaborator.

More and more successful books are being written these days by collaborators, and they seem to be finding inspiration, good fellowship and all sorts of security in their teamwork.

We are not talking about shadowy specialists who write screenplays and generalists' autobiographies, nor about sports writers who make authors of athletes, nor even about such far-ranging sportswriters as Roger Kahn, whose ghostly touch is said to be transformed into a doctor's muggy and dubious scientific treatise into the super-best-seller, Calorien Don't Count.

We are talking about professional writers who frankly do their work in teams. Some of the two-man teams are doing so well that they have expanded into something like committees, calling in their wives not only to serve coffee and cheese sandwiches but to criticize the plot and test the dialogue.

Consider two novels at the top of the best-seller list—Full Safe by a pair of college professors, Eugene Burdick and Harvey Wheeler, and Seven Days in May by a pair of Washington newspapermen, Fletcher Knebel and Charles W. Bailey. For both sets of authors solitary suffering was as obsolete as the quill pen.

Wheeler said for his team that he and Burdick developed plot ideas by talking, and then one of us would pick up the dictating machine and sketch it out.

Bailey said for his team, "We talked over the plot, then each wrote an outline. Then I made the two outlines into one."

Burdick said for Burdick Wheeler, "Our wives helped keep the plot consistent, checked up on newest weapons, typed and retyped." Knebel said for Knebel Bailey, "Both wives read the dialogue aloud. Naturally they didn't contribute anything, but what they took out was all the good."

There ought to be a good many lessons in all this for anyone interested in writing fast-paced best-sellers, and in avoiding loneliness.

Nobody should be discouraged when we say that we have tried it and failed.

We took our wife as our principal collaborator. The book was to be the tense story of a fantastic household error by which a man sent off an order blank for seven copies of the May selection of the Book-of-the-Month Club, and would receive the unknown he found some way to retrieve the order blank from the mail.

To be perfectly truthful, our collaborator was hard to get along with from the first. She disagreed violently with our characterization of the wife in the story. She also had an unsettling way of rolling her eyes and grinding her teeth while we were trying to explain some of our plot suggestions.

We called in our eight-year-old daughter to request some technical research on the latest postal procedures, and she insisted upon giving her gratuitous opinion that our use of commas would never get by her third-grade teacher.

Our six-year-old son listened to some of the dialogue, and kept saying there ought to be more animals in it. Our two-year-old daughter came in with a cheese sandwich and smeared it on the manuscript. We will never write a best-seller but at least in future we will work alone.

Virginia C. Gildersleeve, dean emerita of Barnard College, has published a little book of essays written between the ages of 75 and 82 (Columbia University Press). One of them has rather startling things to say about the United Nations.

Dean Gildersleeve was one of two public members (and the only woman member) of the U.S. delegation to the UN Constitutional Conference at San Francisco in 1945. She recalls these points: The UN was designed to be an organization with teeth in it so that its decisions could be enforced. The Security Council therefore was given its own army forces plus immediately available national air force contingents. The Security Council was to consist of the four great powers that had sponsored the conference (the U.S., Russia, Great Britain and China) plus the fifth great power, France, plus six other members to be elected periodically.

The enforcement provisions of the charter were never put into operation. To this day the UN hasn't got the international police force the charter calls for.

Smaller Nations Lost

There was a great battle in San Francisco over the great-power veto in the Security Council. The smaller nations, led by Australia, fought long and valiantly against it. But in the end they had to give in. Both the U.S. and Russia insisted on the veto and threatened to break up the conference if it wasn't granted.

The General Assembly of the 48 nations gathered in San Francisco was to have only advisory functions. Most of the practical, day-by-day work of the UN was given to the Economic and Social Council. This was the UN as originally designed. It's remarkable how much it has changed during the past 17 years.

The enforcement provisions of the charter were never put into operation. To this day the UN hasn't got the international police force the charter calls for.

Veto Annexed by Reds

The five great powers still sit in the Security Council armed with the veto. But now Nationalist China is a great power only by courtesy and the veto has somehow been annexed by the Russians. The General Assembly has grown to 110 members, 53 of them Afro-Asians; its decisions, though still only advisory, carry much more weight than they were meant to carry originally. The Secretariat, which was

U.S. Fraud Trial Hears Tale Of Injury on Trip to B.C.

TACOMA (AP) — A Day's in the vehicle, stepped behind it to light a cigarette and Belcher testified in federal district court Wednesday he accompanied Tony Fernandez of Longview to Tye, B.C., in 1958 to look at some timberland, stepped behind a vehicle and ended up in hospital.

Fernandez and Raymond Dual of Kelso, Carl Pratt of Portland, Burl Dalgleish of Haines, Ore., and Spokane attorney Joseph Delay are charged with transporting persons or money in interstate commerce in pursuance of a fraud and conspiracy.

TWO TRIPS

Belcher, who began his testimony Tuesday, said he made two trips to Canada with Fernandez in 1958 to look over timberlands Fernandez said he wanted logged under contract. On the second, he said, he went with Fernandez up the Columbia River to Nelson, B.C. After staying in a Nelson hotel, Belcher said he and Fernandez took a passenger train to Tye, then took a vehicle up a road until it stalled in the snow.

Belcher said they killed some time by rolling rocks over a bank. Belcher said he took pictures, put the camera back

Saanichton Fair In Money Crisis

Big problem facing the new board of directors of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society will be how to make next year's Saanichton Fair pay its way.

$1,825 IN DEBT

Treasurer Stuart Stoddart said during the annual membership meeting Tuesday that the society is $1,825 in the red, according to a certified financial statement.

There were some $12,000 in liabilities and a little more than $10,000 in liquid assets. Gate receipts and government grants brought in $4,483 this year, while expenses reached $25,899, he reported.

A slate of all new directors were named during the meeting, and it will be up to them to figure how to bring in more money at the 1963 fair.

New directors are Mrs. W. C. Woodward, Ed Hunt, Bud Mitchell, Gordon Rendie and Mrs. Pat Pierr.

Albert Doney was re-elected president by acclamation. Other officers elected were Russ Simpson, vice-president; Robert McVey, secretary; and Mr. Stoddart, treasurer.

Visitors to Fair Pooled $65 Daily

SEATTLE (AP)—World's Fair visitors threw away nearly $65 a day, according to records completed Wednesday.

They threw the money into the various pools and fountains on the fairgrounds.

Volunteers collected $7,615 from the pools of the federal science building, which will be used for upkeep of the now privately-managed complex.

More than $3,000 from other pools and fountains will be turned over to UNICEF, the United Nations agency that helps sick and hungry children.

U.S. Air Force Missile Fails, Falls Into Sea

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—An air force attempt to score the first full success with its new Skybolt missile failed again yesterday when the rocket, launched from a high-flying airplane, dropped into the Atlantic Ocean minutes later.

It was the fifth flight test for the Skybolt, a sort of air-going version of the navy's submarine-launched Polaris missile. All five shots have fallen far short of their planned goals.

Yesterday the slender, finned missile was tucked beneath the wing of a B-52 jet bomber which took off from Eglin air force base, Fla.

The plane soared over Cape Canaveral off the east coast of Florida and dropped the Skybolt at an altitude of some 40,000 feet.

The air force said the rocket, after first igniting, failed to gain altitude and fell into the Atlantic.

The shot, planned for about 900 miles, was to have been a "milestone" for the Skybolt program. For the first time, the 39-foot missile carried its complete star-tracking guidance system.

Cause of the failure could not be determined immediately.

PERTH, Australia (Reuters)—The press, photographers struck back at Prince Philip yesterday.

"Philip was walking past a lawn sprinkler at the Commonwealth Games Village when he saw an Australian cameraman bend down and switch it on."

He leaped aside shouting "Don't turn that damn thing on" as the cameraman roared with laughter.

"No one will ever believe me, but I didn't turn on that other water," Philip said.

"That other water" soaked photographers at a London garden party several years ago when skillfully hidden fountains suddenly began to erupt while Philip was near the switch.

B.C. Leads Teaching Of French

British Columbia has done more to encourage the learning of French than almost any other non-French-speaking province in Canada, said Douglas V. Parker, president of the B.C. Modern Language Teachers' Association, last night.

Mr. Parker, who has just returned from a Canadian Teachers' Federation seminar on teaching modern languages, in Ottawa, said he was surprised that B.C., as the province farthest removed physically from French Canada, was so far ahead of other provinces in the teaching of French.

EARLY START

British Columbia students now begin taking French as a compulsory subject in Grade 8.

He said the seminar also drafted a proposal to encourage the teaching of French in English communities, and vice versa, at as early an age as possible.

He said it was also suggested that foreign languages which were in evidence in Canadian communities should be taught to the children of those communities so they would not die out with the changing generations.

"For instance," he said, "there is a huge Italian community in Toronto in which Italian should be taught to keep the children in touch with their ethnic background."

Dr. Jean-Paul Vinet, of the University of Montreal, who has a television program on French instruction, also spoke at the seminar.

Tax Bill Validity Queried

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian fire and casualty insurance companies, yesterday challenged the constitutional validity of a federal government tax bill on grounds that it infringes exclusive provincial control over insurance.

The All-Canada Insurance Federation, which represents companies writing about 90 per cent of fire and casualty insurance in Canada, questioned the legality of the bill after it had been approved by the Commons and had received approval in principle in the Senate.

The federation submitted to the Senate banking committee that a section of a bill to amend the Excise Tax Act should be tested in the Supreme Court of Canada before it becomes law.

The section deals with a government move to encourage foreign-owned companies operating in Canada to place their fire and casualty insurance with Canadian firms.

Disease Menace To Sect

HOPE (CP) — A medical health officer warned Wednesday that frozen water and sewer pipes would force Sons of Freedom Doukhobors out of their camp and added that there is danger of disease and fire.

Dr. A. S. Arnel said the camp opened to the sect by the Seventh Day Adventists was "never intended for winter accommodation."

NOON FREEZE

He said water pipes will soon freeze and septic tanks and sewage disposal equipment already is inadequate for the 1,000 or so occupants.

He had informed fire officials about the hazard at the camp where buildings and tents are heated by wood stoves.

WOMAN TO HOSPITAL

Dr. Arnel, director of the upper Fraser Valley health unit, also received authority to order hospital treatment for 72-year-old Mrs. Tina Resanoff, a Freedomite who had gone without food for 16 days.

The woman was removed by ambulance from a motel close to the Freedomite encampment near this Fraser Valley community 100 miles east of Vancouver.

WOVED TO EAST

Dr. Arnel first visited the woman in the morning and later returned with another doctor. The justice of the peace granted the application.

Dr. Arnel said in an interview Mrs. Resanoff's condition was deteriorating rapidly. Earlier she vowed to fast to the death. She had been without food for 16 days and without water for three days.

Thief Rids Paralysis

Stolen Car Lethal

VANCOUVER (CP) — A car thief has exposed himself to the danger of paralysis because the car he chose belongs to a university student who conducted experiments with a fly, an egg and a rat.

The car was stolen Sunday while its owner, agriculture student Mark Fung Ping Chau, was working at his part-time job as an orderly at Mount St. Joseph's Hospital here.

TRAPS IN CAR

Inside the car is the laboratory owl Mr. Fung was wearing when he worked with a germ culture that made a rat become paralyzed and die.

The experiment was conducted in the car.

Police started a widespread search for the car Wednesday after Mr. Fung, on the advice of his professor, told police about the experiment.

DON'T TOUCH

Police warned anyone seeing the car, a 1959 red sedan, not to touch it but to call police immediately.

Mr. Fung said the culture

Main Reason

The main reason for taking this view is a new study of "outside" critics, is in excellent financial shape. City representatives point with pride to the fact that Victoria's credit rating with financial houses is in the top three among major Canadian cities.

Debt Reduced

The city's debt has been reduced by 35 per cent since 1950 and is continuing to decline at a rate of about $700,000 a year while Saanich debt is growing.

All city services are virtually complete and in good shape. A revolving fund has been set up and is in full operation to cover replacement costs of equipment, sewers, water mains and streets.

Next year, when the new provincial government system of municipal grants is introduced, Victoria will come out better than any other municipality in the province.

For Community

Why, then, should city council favor a new study on amalgamation?

Can the city indeed afford to amalgamate with any or all of the surrounding municipalities?

"We can if we think, as city council has done, in terms of the good of the community as a whole," says Ald. Arthur Dowell, chairman of finance.

Ottawa Delegation

'Nights in Pigalle Daytime in Sleep'

MONTREAL (CP) — La Presse said Tuesday "certain" members of the Canadian parliamentary delegation to the recent North Atlantic Treaty Organization conference in Paris "spent their nights in Pigalle and slept by day."

Pigalle is the centre of Paris' night-time entertainment area. The newspaper, in an Ottawa report by Jean Charpentier, said Canadian parliamentary delegations to international conferences are "always ill-prepared, often disinterested and sometimes without talent." Correspondent Charpentier accompanied the Canadian delegation to the NATO meeting.

OTHER VETERANS

Delegates from other countries mostly were taking part in the conference for the seventh or eighth straight year, the report said.

If Profits Rise That's Paradise

GLASGOW (AP) — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery spoke up loudly Tuesday in favor of rewriting some hymns.

Speaking at the opening of a hymnal printing plant, Montgomery said:

"We always sing, 'O paradise, O paradise, how I long for thee.'"

"But we don't really long for that. We long to stay on here a bit longer. I'm sure you will all agree with that."

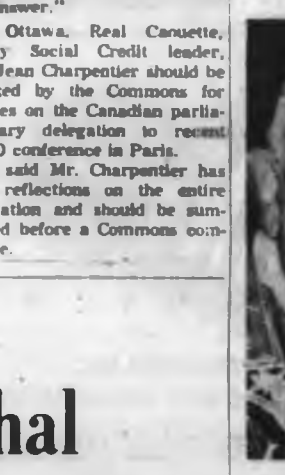

Then he added:

"I would like to see some author who might write— 'O paradise, O paradise, I have a little shop, and just as long as profits last, here I mean to stop.'"

Crossing Near Elk Lake

ROAD MISHAP KILLS WOMAN

By BOB PETHICK

An elderly woman was killed instantly when struck by a car while attempting to cross the Patricia Bay Highway near Elk Lake about 5:03 p.m. yesterday.

Dead is Mrs. Daisy Hargreaves, 81, Aberdeen Hotel, who was hurled 37 feet by the crash.

She was wearing dark clothing and was crossing the highway near Piedmont.

TOLL NOW 22

Her death brings the year's fast-rising fatal traffic toll south of the Malahat to 22. It was the third fatal accident in Saanich in 1962.

Mrs. Hargreaves had been visiting a friend, Mrs. Muriel Spurgeon, 3074 Patricia Bay Highway, and was believed to have been on her way to call on Mrs. Edith Rowbottom, 5089 Patricia Bay Highway, when the accident occurred.

'DIDN'T HAVE CHANCE'

"The driver of the car didn't have a chance," eyewitness Charles Lake, 1920 Jeffrey, told the Colonist.

Mr. Lake was driving behind the car that hit Mrs. Hargreaves.

BARELY SAW HER

"I just barely saw her silhouetted against the headlights of an oncoming car. The driver told me she didn't see him pedestrian until she was right in front of the car," he said.

Police said the car was driven by Mrs. Marjorie Sam of Mount Newton Cross Road. She told police she had been travelling between 40 and 45 miles an hour.

Police had their hands full keeping heavy rush-hour traffic moving on the Patricia Bay Highway.

A doctor, who arrived on the scene before police, pronounced her dead.

Strachan Names Labor 'Agitators'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Opposition leader Robert Strachan said Wednesday he blames union officials Oryette Braaten and Jerry LeBourdais for fanning labor unrest in British Columbia.

Braaten is business agent of the Vancouver Converters' Local 433 of the Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers. LeBourdais is president of Local 16-801 of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers.

SHARE BLAME

Mr. Strachan, leader of the provincial New Democratic Party, also said one management official and three politicians were equally responsible. (See Page 8.)

He said also inflammatory statements made by some labor leaders could harm the cause of the labor movement.

Referring in a Wednesday interview to LeBourdais and Braaten, he said: "They were the ones I was talking about mainly."

"If I'm going to name them, I'm also going to name Howard Mitchell (president of Mitchell Press Limited) and Liberal leader Ray Perrault, Premier Bennett and Attorney-General Bonner."

RUE SITUATION

Braaten was quoted at a Vancouver Labor Council meeting as saying:

"We should tell the courts we will about the city down. We'll show them we are the lawmakers and they will interpret the law the way we want them to."

LeBourdais was quoted at the same meeting as saying the labor movement would run right over anyone who got in its way.

The trio were believed to be hunting moose.

Pennies from Scholars Boost 500 Fund

Pennies from scholars make 500 Fund dollars.

Never widely known at any time as possessing the most solvent of financial status, the scholars of Victoria University have nevertheless backed the annual Christmas fund drive.

All week long, they've been twisting arms on campus in a "battle of the sexes" to see which could come up with the largest collection of pennies.

Two large multi-gallon glass jars have been slowly filling, inch by inch.

End of the male vs. female contest is this afternoon. The pennies will be counted and, tomorrow, the winning sex receives its reward.

"It's going to be a day like frigid week," social convener Cathy Hatch says.

"Winners have the power to ask anything—within reason—of the losing sex."

It looked, late yesterday, as if the male students would have that privilege. Their jar was several inches fuller. But the situation could change.

The effort is just another of the many ways Victorians get together to aid the 500 Christmas Fund.

End result of the student "fun and games" is a measure of happiness for 500 households at Christmas time.

All funds, no matter how collected, go into the overall fund. Then with the Daily Colonist absorbing all administrative costs, the total receipts are split into 500 equal cheques just before Christmas.

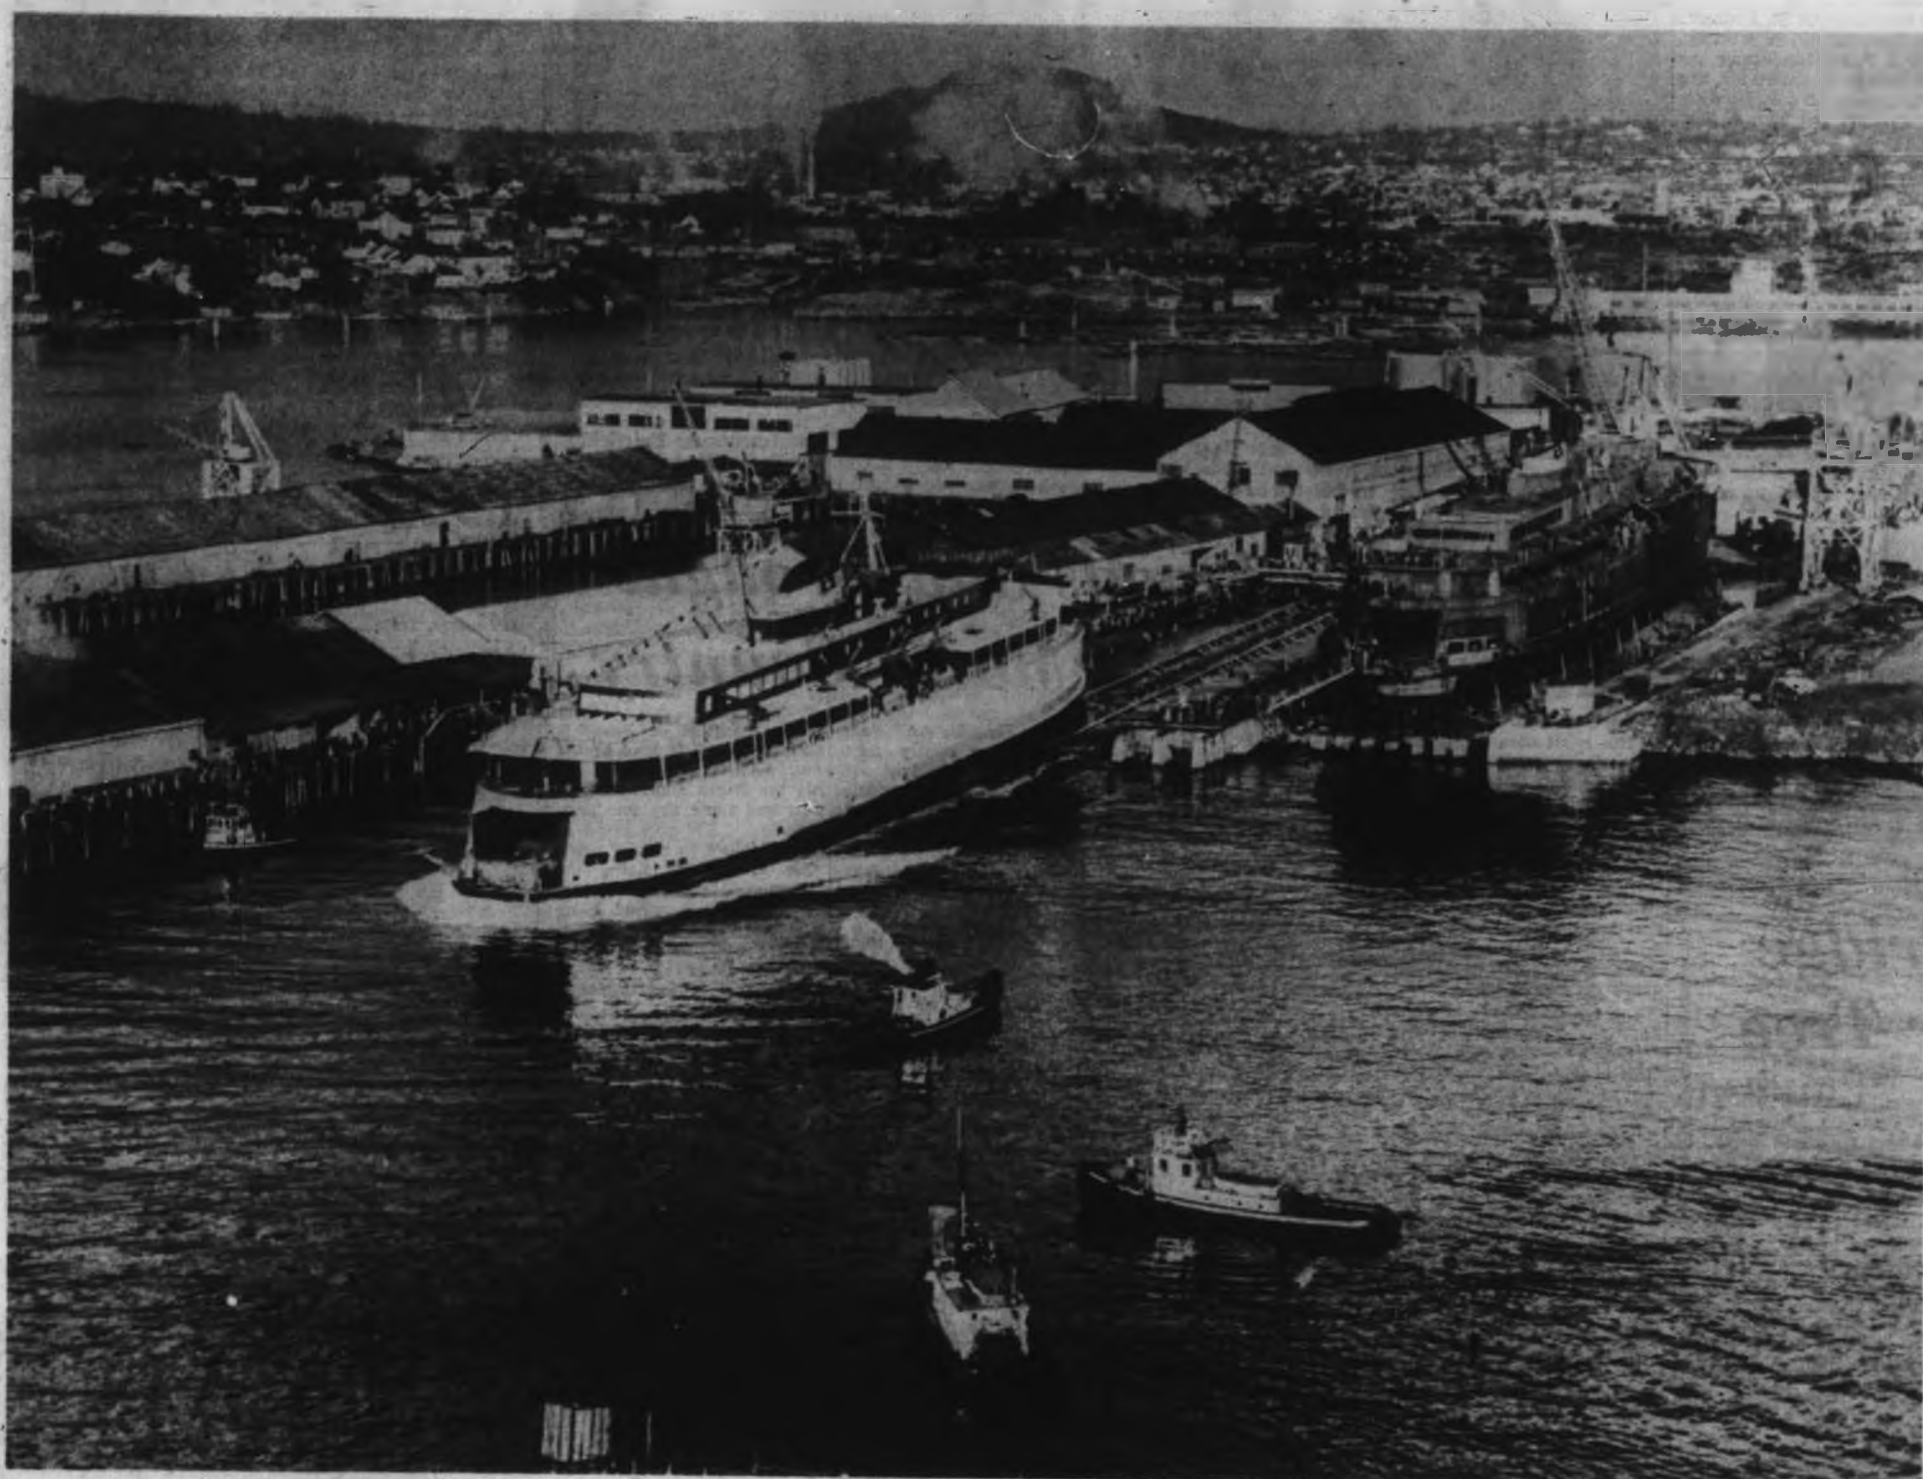

Each of 500 Victoria households that needs help the most receives a Christmas cheque.

This gift may be spent in any fashion.

It just says "Merry Christmas — we haven't forgotten you, now that things are difficult. May they become better soon."

List of latest donations on Page 2.

Amid the deafening salutes of nearby tugs and ships, the $3,500,000 Mv. Queen of Saanich, first of the queens, slides gracefully down the ways. ## Duncan Target Refuge

DUNCAN — An emergency municipal government headquarters for the Greater Victoria target area including the Saanich Peninsula and southern island as far north as Chemainus will be established at Duncan in the near future.

This was decided yesterday at a meeting of the target area in the local emergency, chaired by Rev. A. C. Warfield of Esquimalt. Also attending were south island representatives, mayors and civil defence co-ordinators, chief co-ordinator W. W. Mathers and operations officer William Summerville.

Cowichan Flood Area

$200,000 Loss Fear in Homes

NORTH COWICHAN—Homes in the south-end Wall subdivision worth a total of $200,000 will lose all value unless floods are stopped, says secretary-treasurer R. V. Waddy of the South-End Taxpayers' Association.

He spoke while announcing the association has decided to approach both senior governments and North Cowichan municipality for speedy relief of the "continuous flood threat."

Mr. Waddy, whose Beverly Street home has been flooded 12 times in four years, said most people in the subdivision have come in the Cowichan Valley since 1930.

"Oldtimers told me that area was devastated several times before the subdivision went in and it was a playground for salmon," he said. "It's beyond my comprehension that the council permitted the contractor to build."

Gen. C. A. P. Murison, reeve at that time and now chairman of the Cowichan-Koksilah river flood control committee, said he opposed the council decision strongly.

But he explained it will cost taxpayers about $750,000 to ease the flood problem and B.C. has 46 similar problems on its hand.

The association will form committees soon to plan the anti-flood campaign and try to increase membership.

Officers elected were W. W. Seymour, president; Nils Ailian, vice-president, and directors C. A. Green, Mrs. Don Baker and John Cannon.

Fair Profit $397 In Courtenay

COURTENAY — A profit of $397 was made on this year's fall fair operation, annual reports at Tuesday's meeting showed.

The beef barbecue held for the first time, lost $197 to reduce the fair profits. Revenue totaled $6,377 compared with $5,988 in expenditures including $1,837 in prizes.

Re-elected to the board were retiring officers W. W. MacLeod, John Larsen, Herbert Spencer, Don Halstead and J. Percy.

Fair manager Eric Chayko advised continuation of the treasure hunt for first day prizes, pointing out a large number of patrons were attracted to the hunt.

Mr. Chayko, who said he might not be able to fill the managerial post next year, urged action for a government grant for new buildings and co-operation with schools to increase junior entries.

He also suggested a committee of three board members should work with the manager to plan the fair and directors should take a more active part in the fair.

NANAIMO — There should be a drop in unemployment here this winter as work on many new projects begins. Four projects alone are worth $1,225,000, including the vocational school estimated at $802,500.

The Madill building contract has been awarded to Dobson and Marcus Ltd. of Wellington. The premises will be 400 by 100 feet and house offices and plant.

Haig Burns said yesterday a contract estimated at more than $300,000 is to be signed next week for construction of a 22-unit, one-penthouse apartment block in Lynburn. Robinson Construction of Nanaimo was low bidder.

Woolworth's new store is expected to be in operation on the site of the old Odd Fellows Hall on Commercial by May 1.

WORKS

Brechin Lumber Ltd. will have a new warehouse at Northfield costing $8,000. Construction will start in January and total cost of the company's move will be about $16,000. Fred Dorman said the machinery will be moved to Northfield Friday and Saturday.

The Harmac mill is to start construction of a 300 by 60-foot woodroom in January.

WORKS

Works Minister Chant said the contract for the vocational school will probably be awarded in two or three days. The school is supposed to be in operation next September.

• How City Sees Amalgamation

It's Good for All

By IAN HYSKOT
Last of a Series

Key to the amalgamation puzzle for Victoria lies in more orderly development of the community as a whole.

Beyond that, according to the consensus at city hall,

Disease Menace To Sect

HOPE (CP) — A medical health officer warned Wednesday that frozen water and sewer pipes would force Sons of Freedom Doukhobors out of their camp and added that there is danger of disease and fire.

Dr. A. S. Arnel said the camp opened to the sect by the Seventh Day Adventists was "never intended for winter accommodation."

NOON FREEZE

He said water pipes will soon freeze and septic tanks and sewage disposal equipment already in inadequate for the 1,000 or so occupants.

He had informed fire officials about the hazard at the camp where buildings and tents are heated by wood stoves.

WOMAN TO HOSPITAL

Dr. Arnel, director of the upper Fraser Valley health unit, also received authority to order hospital treatment for 72-year-old Mrs. Tina Rezanoff, a Freedomite who had gone without food for 16 days.

The woman was removed by ambulance from a motel close to the Freedomite encampment near this Fraser Valley community 100 miles east of Vancouver.

VOWED TO FAST

Dr. Arnel first visited the woman in the morning and later returned with another doctor. The justice of the peace also visited the woman before he granted the application.

Dr. Arnel said in an interview Mrs. Rezanoff's condition was deteriorating rapidly. Earlier she vowed to fast to the death. She had been without food for 16 days and without water for three days.

John D Set To See Mac

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Macmillan will meet in the Bahamas Dec. 31 for a far-ranging discussion of world affairs. It was announced Wednesday.

Thief Risks Paralysis

Stolen Car Lethal

VANCOUVER (CP) — A car thief has exposed himself to the danger of paralysis because the car he chose belongs to a university student who conducted experiments with a fly, an egg and a rat.

The car was stolen Sunday while its owner, agriculture student Mark Fung Ping Chuen, was working at his part-time job as an orderly at Mount St. Joseph's Hospital here.

TRAPS IN CAR

Inside the car is the laboratory coat Mr. Fung was wearing when he worked with a germ culture that made a rat become paralyzed and die.

The experiment was conducted in the car.

Police started a widespread search for the car Wednesday after Mr. Fung, on the advice of his professor, told police about the experiment.

DONT TOUCH

Police warned anyone seeing the car, a 1959 red sedan, not to touch it but to call police immediately.

Mr. Fung said the culture

there appears to be little of lasting value to be gained by joining Saanich or the rest of Greater Victoria.

Main Reason

The main reason for taking this view:

Victoria, despite attacks of "outside" critics, is in excellent financial shape.

City representatives point with pride to the fact that Victoria's credit rating with financial houses is in the top three among major Canadian cities.

Debt Reduced

The city's debt has been reduced by 35 per cent since 1950 and is continuing to decline at a rate of about $700,000 a year while Saanich debt is growing.

All city services are virtually complete and in good shape. A revolving fund has been set up and is in full operation to cover replacement costs of equipment, sewers, water mains and streets.

Next year, when the new provincial government system of municipal grants is introduced, Victoria will come out better than any other municipality in the province.

For Community

Why, then, should city council favor a new study on amalgamation?

Can the city indeed afford to amalgamate with any or all of the surrounding municipalities?

"We can if we think, as city council has done, in terms of the good of the community as a whole," says Ald. Arthur Dowell, chairman of finance.

Mayor R. B. Wilson would like to see from the outset amalgamation of all four local municipalities.

Many of the benefits, however, would accrue from taking of what the mayor termed "the logical first step" toward this eventual goal by uniting Victoria and Saanich.

These would include considerable economies in ad-

By BOB PETHICK

An elderly woman was killed instantly when struck by a car while attempting to cross the Patricia Bay Highway near Elk Lake about 5:03 p.m. yesterday.

Dead is Mrs. Daisy Hargreaves, 81, Aberdeen Hotel, who was hurled 37 feet by the crash.

She was wearing dark clothing and was crossing the highway near Pledmont.

TOLL NOW 22

Her death brings the year's fast-rising fatal traffic toll south of the Malahat to 22. It was the third fatal accident in Saanich in 1962.

Mrs. Hargreaves had been visiting a friend, Mrs. Muriel Spurgeon, 5074 Patricia Bay Highway, and was believed to have been on her way to call on Mrs. Edith Rowbottom, 5086 Patricia Bay Highway, when the accident occurred.

DIDN'T HAVE CHANCE

"The driver of the car didn't have a chance," eyewitness Charles Lake, 1920 Jeffery, told the Colonist.

Mr. Lake was driving behind the car that hit Mrs. Hargreaves.

BARELY SAW HER

"I just barely saw her silhouetted against the headlights of an oncoming car. The driver told me she didn't see the pedestrian until she was right in front of the car," he said.

Police said the car was driven by Mrs. Marjorie Sam of Mount Newton Cross Road. She told police she had been travelling between 40 and 45 miles an hour.

Police had their hands full keeping heavy rush-hour traffic moving on the Patricia Bay Highway.

A doctor, who arrived on the scene before police, pronounced her dead.

Thant Wins Red Backing

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Soviet Union was reported Wednesday to have agreed to go ahead with election of U. Thant, United Nations acting secretary general, to a full five-year term.

Thant was chosen Nov. 5, 1961, to serve out the remainder of the late Dag Hammarskjöld's term, which ends next April 18.

Strachan Names Labor 'Agitators'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Opposition leader Robert Strachan said Wednesday he blames union officials Orville Braaten and Jerry LeBourdais for fanning labor unrest in British Columbia.

Braaten is business agent of the Vancouver Converters' Local 433 of the Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers. LeBourdais is president of Local 16-801 of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers.

SHARE BLAME

Mr. Strachan, leader of the provincial New Democratic Party, also said one management official and three politicians were equally responsible. (See Page 8.)

He said also inflammatory statements made by some labor leaders could harm the cause of the labor movement.

Referring in a Wednesday interview to LeBourdais and Braaten, he said: "They were the ones I was talking about mainly."

"If I'm going to name them, I'm also going to name Howard Mitchell (president of Mitchell Press Limited) and Liberal leader Ray Perrault, Premier Bennett and Attorney-General Bonner."

TELL 'COURTS'

Braaten was quoted at a Vancouver Labor Council meeting as saying:

"We should tell the courts we will shut the city down. We'll show them we are the lawmakers and they will interpret the law the way we want them to."

LeBourdais was quoted at the same meeting as saying the labor movement would run right over anyone who got in its way.

Crack Indian Units Quit Pakistan Border

WASHINGTON (AP) — High Indian authorities said Wednesday there has been a withdrawal of substantial Indian army forces from the Pakistan border to meet the Chinese Communist threat on the Himalayan frontier.

The diplomatic sources estimated about half of the 60,000 to 75,000 crack Indian troops which have been concentrated along the borders of West and

East Pakistan have been pulled out of their positions to bolster India's defence lines on the northeast and northwest fronts in the undeclared war with the Chinese Communists.

India's Ambassador B. K. Nehru told a press conference the conflict with China "means that India cannot assume any longer that it will have a friendly neighbor on its northern boundary."

Blast Bulges Desert

Three seconds after detonation of thermonuclear blast underground in Nevada desert, mound 200 feet high and 600 feet across rises from desert floor. U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, releasing picture, says mound collapsed into hole 1,300 feet in diameter—big enough to swallow three Queen Elizabeths. Black dust to right of mound are 10-foot buildings. Blast, equal to 100,000 tons of TNT, was first in series to test atomic power's use as earth mover for canals, harbors, dams.—(AP Photo/Int.)

Surgery?

Reports persisted in Vatican City yesterday, despite formal denials, that Pope Pius may undergo surgery soon. Officials said at first his cold had developed into mild influenza, then refused to specify nature of 81-year-old pontiff's illness.

Ottawa Delegation

'Nights in Pigalle Daytime in Sleep'

MONTREAL (CP) — La Presse said Tuesday "certain" members of the Canadian parliamentary delegation to the recent North Atlantic Treaty Organization conference in Paris "spent their nights in Pigalle and slept by day."

(See also Page 27.)

Pigalle is the centre of Paris' night-time entertainment area. The newspaper, in an Ottawa report by Jean Charpentier, said Canadian parliamentary delegations in international conferences are "always ill-prepared, often disinterested and sometimes without talent." Correspondent Charpentier accompanied the Canadian delegation to the NATO meeting.

OTHER VETERANS

Delegates from other countries mostly were taking part in the conference for the seventh or eighth straight year, the report said.

Among the 14 members of the Canadian delegation, it said there were novices who got documented information they needed only on the eve of departure for Paris.

"On the rare occasions when one of our delegates spoke (usually to ask a question) it was felt that only modesty and compassion prevented the British, the American or the Dutchman from giving a stinging answer."

In Ottawa, Real Casseville, deputy Social Credit leader, said Jean Charpentier should be rebuked by the Commons for articles on the Canadian parliamentary delegation to recent NATO conference in Paris.

He said Mr. Charpentier has cast reflections on the entire delegation and should be summoned before a Commons committee.

Pennies from Scholars Boost 500 Fund

Pennies from scholars make 500 Fund dollars.

Never widely known at any time as possessing the most solvent of financial status, the scholars of Victoria University have nevertheless backed the annual Christmas fund drive.

All week long, they've been twisting arms on campus in a "battle of the sexes" to see which could come up with the larger collection of pennies.

Two large multi-gallon glass jars have been slowly filling, inch by inch.

End of the male vs. female contest is this afternoon. The pennies will be counted and, tomorrow, the winning sex receives its reward.

"It's going to be a day like fresh week," social convener Cathy Hatch says.

"Winners have the power to ask anything—within reason—of the losing sex."

It looked, late yesterday, as if the male students would have that privilege. Their jar was several inches fuller. But the situation could change.

The effort is just another of the many ways Victorians get together to aid the 500 Christmas Fund.

End result of the student "fun and games" is a measure of happiness for 500 households at Christmas time.

All funds, no matter how collected, go into the overall fund. Then with the Daily Colonist absorbing all administrative costs, the total receipts are split into 500 equal cheques just before Christmas.

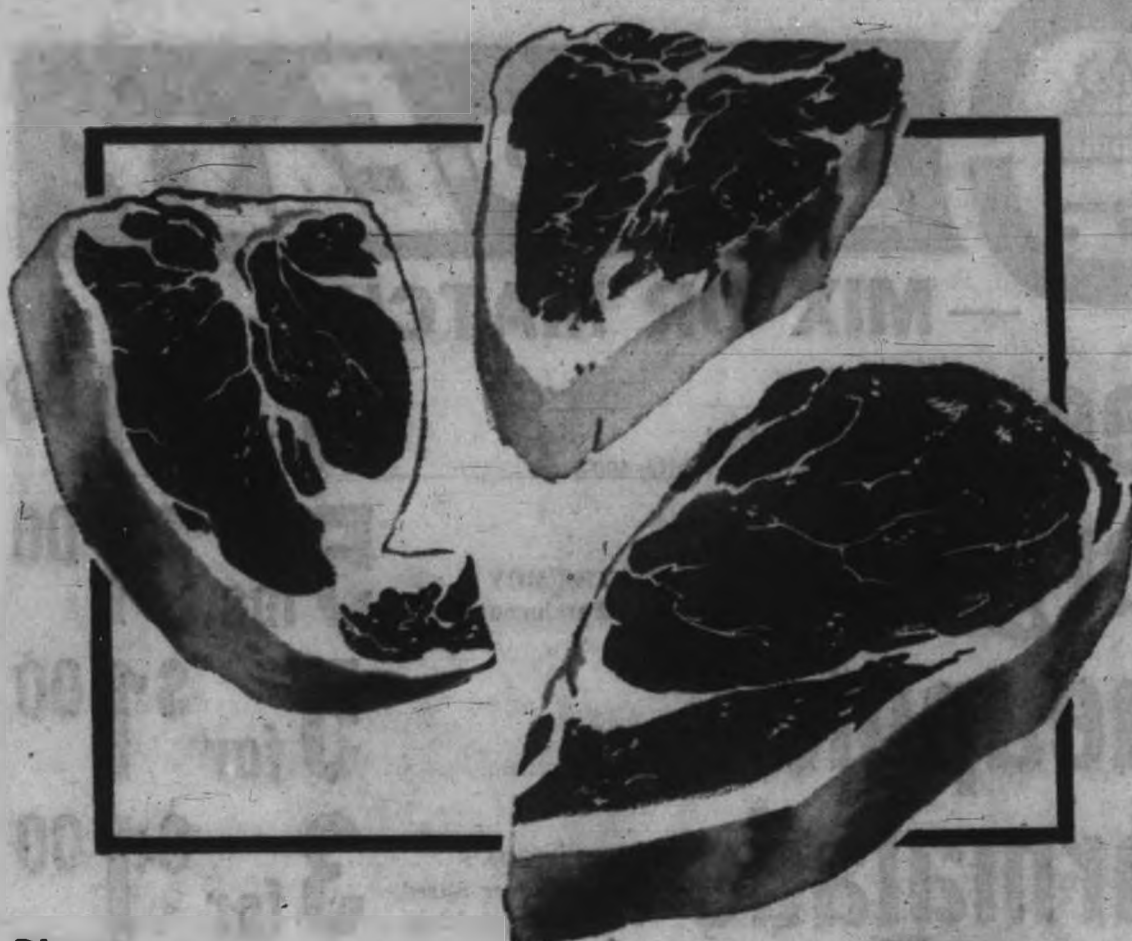

Each of 500 Victoria households that needs help the most receives a Christmas cheque.

This gift may be spent in any fashion.

It just says "Merry Christmas — we haven't forgotten you, now that things are difficult. May they become better soon."
